YOUNG MEN ACCUSED OF WORKING SWINDLE GAME

Several Lawyers Are Complainants Against C. F. McCarthy and B. D. Russell

C. F. McCarthy and B. D. Russell were arraigned before Judge Andy Calhoun in the city criminal court Wednesday morning on a charge of cheating and swindling, based on allegations that they obtained money by falsely representing themselves as advertising and subscription solicitors for a memorial publication by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers.

The court was crowded with members of this order and with many local lawyers who are alleged to have been victimized by McCarthy and Russell, young white men about twenty-five years of age.

It is said Russell and McCarthy worked a scheme in Atlanta and other cities whereby they canvassed various law offices for money, showing a blank form of a proposed memorial magazine which was to contain pictures and brief histories of firemen and engineers who had been killed in railroad wrecks.

Detective John Black, who worked up the case against them, exhibited this form in court and said McCarthy and Russell told the lawyers they would insert advertising cards if they would hand over $25.

Attorney Marion Smith was one of those who said he was fleeced out of $25, but that McCarthy and Russell had offered afterward to give it back to him. He said he would be glad to get it now or any time. Reuben R. Arnold was another who is said to have given his check for $10, but stopped payment on it and put detectives on the trail of McCarthy and Russell.

SOLDIER ARRESTED TAKEN BY SHERIFF TO COLORADO

Hayden Tipton, alias Robert Graham, a private at Fort McPherson, arrested by Deputy Sheriff J. W. Chambers and held for the Colorado authorities on charges of counterfeiting, was carried back to Greeley, Col., Tuesday night by Sheriff S. J. McAfee, of Greeley.

Hayden's father and brother-in-law were arrested in a raid made on their alleged counterfeiting headquarters in Greeley on March 1.

Quickest Relief Known For all Sore Feet

The following is absolutely the surest and quickest cure known to science for all foot ailments: "Dissolve two tablespoonfuls of Calocide compound in a basin of warm water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently rubbing the sore parts." The effect is really wonderful. All soreness goes instantly; the feet feel so good you could stomp for joy. Corns and calluses can be peeled right off. It gives immediate relief for sore bunions, sweaty, smarting and aching feet. A twenty-five cent box of Calocide is sold in all drug stores. It works through the pores and removes the cause of the trouble. Don't waste time on uncertain remedies. Any druggist has Calocide and it is in a few hours from this whole lot. It is not a patent medicine, but is an ethical preparation. Medical Formula Laboratories of Chicago. (Adv.)

A VALUABLE SUGGESTION IMPORTANT TO EVERYONE

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially, when we live an indoor life, the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich, heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, may be weak or irregular heart action, warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

Many physicians claim that an herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence. An "herbal" compound, which has the most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and inclose ten cents; also mention The Atlanta Daily Journal. (Adv.)

Youthful Hetty Green Starts Bank Account At Age of Four Years

Little Olga Pattillo Wants That Regional Bank as Much as Any of You Bankers

If there's such a word as financieress, it belongs to Little Miss Olga Pattillo, aged four years. She is probably the youngest owner of a bank account in the city of Atlanta. It's all her, own idea and the $7.47 that reposes in the vault of a local bank is all hers by the sweat of her small brow and the gratitude of admiring relatives.

Olga's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Pattillo, were discussing the vault of a regional bank in the parlor of their home in East Atlanta the other day. They told Olga a bank was a place where one put money.

Said Olga: "Then I shall put my money in a bank."

No small sort of a triumph for her, thank you! The seeds of a Rothschild are sown in her little breast and ambition burns high to be a second Hetty Green. Since she was first able to toddle about the house, Olga has been industrious and many rewards in the shape of pennies and nickels and dimes have been hers for such chores as her mother assigned her.

So she saved $7.10 and on her fourth birthday went all the way to the big city with her daddy, clutching fast a chain purse in her tiny fingers the while. She handed it over to a pretty bank teller and was given a pretty green book with marks in it.

If you ask her what she wants with all that money she will tell you it's for a Shetland pony, "wif brown eyes an' a white spot in his middle."

St. Louis Bank President Considered for Handling New Currency System

(By Associated Press.)—Walker Hill, president of the Mechanics-American National bank of St. Louis, is being considered for a place on the federal reserve board which will administer the new currency system. He is accounted one of the leading bankers of the middle west.

Mr. Hill is a native Virginian and was prominent in banking circles in that state prior to 1905, when he went to St. Louis to become president of the American Exchange National bank. Later he became president of its successor, the Mechanics-American National. He was born in 1855 and still worked in a bank as a messenger. White House officials said no selections had been made.

dence relating to any corporation being investigated, and on application of the commission the courts of the United States shall have jurisdiction to issue writs of mandamus commanding any person or corporation to comply with any lawful requirements made by the commission.

REPORTS UNDER OATH.

Every corporation engaged in interstate commerce, save those subject to the jurisdiction of the interstate commerce commission which by itself or with other corporations, owned, operated, or controlled in conjunction with it, so as to constitute substantially a business unit, has a capital of $5,000,000 or has a less capital and belongs to any class specified by the commission, shall furnish annually such information, records and statements of its organization, stockholders, bondholders and records of its relations to other corporations, as the commission may require. These reports shall be made under oath, and filed within three months after the close of each year. A penalty of $100 a day is provided for corporations failing to comply.

By direction of the president, the attorney general or either house of congress, the commission shall institute investigations to ascertain whether the corporations under investigation are violating the acts in restraint of trade. The commission may include in such reports any recommendations for readjustment of business. The commission may exercise its own discretion as to making its report public after an investigation.

If the commission, during the course of any investigation, obtains information that any unfair competition or practices in commerce not necessarily constituting a violation of law, it shall make a report to the president that he may recommend to congress to remedy the evil.

There is a provision empowering the commission to investigate matters referred to it involving any question arising in any litigation or any proposed decree growing out of any suit in equity brought by the attorney general.

The bill confers on the commission the same powers conferred on the interstate commerce commission, and makes it a crime punishable by a fine of $5,000, or three years' imprisonment, for any person to make public any information obtained by the commission without its authority.

Consumption Takes 350 People Daily

in the United States and the deadly germs claim more victims in cities than in rural districts, due no doubt to the increased number of indoor workers in confining quarters and their lack of sunshine.

Tubercular germs always attack when the system is weakened from colds or sickness, overwork, overstrain, confining duties, or any drain which has reduced the resistive forces of the body. But nature always provides a corrector and the best physician emphasizes that during changing climate our blood should be kept rich and pure and active by taking Scott's Emulsion after meals; the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion warms the body by enriching the blood—it peculiarly strengthens the lungs and rebuilds the resistive forces of the body to avoid colds and prevent consumption.

If you work indoors, tire easily, feel languid or nervous, Scott's Emulsion is the most strengthening food-medicine known; it builds energy and strength and is totally free from alcohol or any stupefying drug—every drugless has it. 15-104, Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

CARRANZA GIVES WORD TO PROTECT FOREIGNERS

Rebel Leader Yields to Protest Made by Bryan Through Consul Simplic

(By Associated Press.)—Consul Simplic at Nogales today reported to the state department that he had assurances from Carranza that lives and properties of Americans and other foreigners would be protected and that all molestation of foreigners would be avoided throughout the Nogales district.

Carranza issued the orders on Consul Simplic's protest, under instructions from Secretary Bryan, against rebel depredations on George Reveridge's ranch and the Ganapal hacienda in the Nogales district. Carranza has further promised that there will be no more assaults like that on the son of Sias King at Caco.

Authorities at Tampico have promised immediate release of an American named Byrd, held near that city.

Consul Letcher, at Chihuahua, reported that the threatened seizure of the ranch of W. D. Smyman, a British subject, had been satisfactorily settled by an appeal to the chief state authorities of Chihuahua.

No new reports have been received at the department on the Benton, Bauch or Vergara cases.

Secretary Bryan, who last night renewed his demand for the punishment of Vergara's slayers, said today he would continue to transmit to Charge O'Shaughnessy all the evidence in that case.

IF BLADDER OR KIDNEYS BOTHER

Try the Favorite Recipe of Old Folks—Buchu and Juniper.

Everyone knows that Buchu and Juniper properly compounded is the best medicine for weak kidneys or bladder. When the urine becomes cloudy, the bladder irritated; when you have an unusual flow of urine, scalding, dribbling, straining, or too frequent passage from the bladder, your head and back aches—your ankles or eyelids are swollen, spots before the eyes, leg cramps, shortness of breath, sleeplessness and despondency, dizzy spells, and if weather had you have rheumatism, try the following: Get from any reliable druggist a good sized bottle of Stuart's Buchu and Juniper Compound. Take a spoonful after meals. Drink plenty of water. Drop the use of sugar and sweets. In a day or so your kidneys will act fine and natural. Stuart's Buchu mixed with Juniper has been used for years to clean out impurities from the kidneys and bladder, also to neutralize the uric acids in the blood and urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending all kidney and bladder weakness and curing Diabetes. Stuart's Buchu and Juniper is a fine kidney and bladder regulator and has helped thousands of sufferers when most every other medicine failed to help or cure. Be sure it's Stuart's Buchu and Juniper Compound. (Adv.)

What So Precious As a Healthy Baby?

Every Youngster Can Have Fine Digestion if Given a Good Baby Laxative.

HOWARD ROUSE

In spite of the greatest personal care and the most intelligent attention to diet, babies and children will become constipated, and it is a fact that constipation and indigestion have wrecked many a young life. To start with a good digestive apparatus is to start life without handicap.

But as we cannot all have perfect working bowels, we must do the next best thing and acquire them, or train them to become healthy. This can be done by the use of a laxative-remedy very highly recommended by a great many mothers. The remedy is called Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and has been on the market for two generations. It can be bought conveniently at any drug store for fifty cents or one dollar a bottle, and those who are already convinced of its merits buy the dollar size.

Its mildness makes it the ideal medicine for children, and it is also very pleasant to the taste. It is sure in its effect, and genuinely harmless. Very little of it is required and its frequent use does not cause it to lose its effect, as is the case with so many other remedies.

Thousands can testify to its merits in constipation, indigestion, biliousness, sick headaches, etc., among them reliable people like Mrs. James R. Rouse, of Marinette, Wis. Her little son Howard was fifteen months old last April, but he was sick with bowel trouble from birth and suffered intensely. Since Mrs. Rouse has been giving him Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin all trouble has disappeared and the boy is becoming robust.

Thousands keep Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin constantly in the house, for every member of the family can use it from infancy to old age. The use of Syrup Pepsin have learned to avoid cathartics, salts, mineral waters, pills and other harsh remedies for they do but temporary good and are a shock to any delicate system.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 415 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

5,000 LABOR MEN SOLID FOR WIER AND ALBRIGHT

Candidates of Labor Legislative League Will Have Support of Union Workmen

That the 5,000 members of organized labor in Atlanta will stand practically solid behind the candidacies of William S. Wier for county commissioner and S. A. Albright for the legislature was indicated by the reports read at the meeting of the Labor Legislative league Tuesday evening.

Mr. Wier, who is a member of the Atlanta Typographical union, and Mr. Albright, who is a member of the musicians' union, were recently selected by the league to make the races for the county commission and legislature. Their candidacies have met with an enthusiastic reception by the members of the various unions, according to the reports made Tuesday evening. It was determined by the league that a thorough canvass of every member of organized labor in the city should be made in behalf of Mr. Wier and Mr. Albright, and the following committee was named to appear before the various labor organizations: W. C. Carraway, W. S. Wier, S. A. Albright, Carl Karston and Louis Marquardt.

The league will finance the campaign of Messrs. Wier and Albright out of its initiation fees and dues, and will mail out literature calling the attention of the voters to their candidacies and also to the fact that the registration books close on April 1.

Mr. Wier's platform was unanimously endorsed. It follows:

"1. For care and economy in spending the county's money in order that the tax rate may be kept within reasonable bounds.

"2. For a more general distribution of public improvements whereby the poorer sections of city and country, now sadly neglected, may share in the benefits from the abolition of the convict lease system.

"3. For efficiency in handling the county's labor power and for a living wage for all free labor employed, including those who care for and direct the convicts.

"4. The convicts should not be petted and pampered any more than they should be beaten and driven. They should be made to work diligently, but no man should be pushed beyond his mental or physical capacity. They should be properly clothed and housed and should receive all the clean, well-cooked food a healthy man doing hard work demands and deserves. They should be given some hours for recreation as well as for rest and sleep in each twenty-four and the guards and others in charge of them should be men of kindness, firmness and intelligence. The healthy convicts should be rigidly guarded against infection from those suffering from consumption and infectious diseases. Those who are diseased should be kept apart; given light work and such attention as their unfortunate condition deserves."

Knight Must Face Charge Of Burning Wife With Acid

MRS. ROSA KNIGHT.

Macon Man Will Be Given a Hearing as Soon as Injured Woman Is Able to Leave Grady Hospital

Dewitt Knight, of Macon, Ga., is held at police station and will be tried on the charge of throwing carbolic acid in the face of his wife, Rosa Knight, in a room at the Piedmont hotel Monday night so soon as Mrs. Knight, who is at Grady hospital, is sufficiently recovered from burns to appear in court.

Physicians say she will be convalescent in a few days. An examination shows that no acid was taken internally, but that her face is so badly burned she may lose her left eye.

Mrs. Knight claims that after she came from Macon to Atlanta Monday her husband followed her, entered her room, kissed her "with the kiss of a Judas" and then dashed the vial of acid in her face.

Knight declares his wife tried to commit suicide with the acid as he entered her room and that he saved her life by knocking the vial to the floor. The aged mother of Knight, accompanied by her married daughter, Mrs. W. R. Jackson, came to Atlanta Tuesday night and visited Knight at the police station and Mrs. Knight at the Grady.

LIVES ENDANGERED BY LIVE WIRES AT ICE HOUSE FIRE

Unused Building of Atlanta Ice and Coal Company Consumed by Flames

Fire starting from some unknown cause completely destroyed the unused building of the old Atlanta Ice and Coal company's plant at Decatur and Bell streets, Tuesday night.

The flames were discovered at 10:30 o'clock. The fire burned until midnight. Firemen had great difficulty in keeping the fire confined to the old building of the ice plant. Sparks, scattered by the wind, settled on the neighboring houses, twice setting two of these on fire.

Danger to the firemen was caused by melting wires from the poles nearby. High-powered wires were also on these poles, and it was thought that they would melt also, and fall on the firemen. The damage to the building, which was old and half-fallen down, could not be estimated. It was slight, however, though a total loss.

"Votes for Women" Chocolates

The Story of Crane's Most Celebrated Brand of Dainty Chocolates

"Votes for Women" Chocolates. The official package goes on sale at our two stores today. Beautifully boxed in packages carrying out the colors of the association and filled with the Crane Chocolates. We have the unique distinction of making the first window display of the goods outside of New York City. Mr. Crane, who has the necessary qualifications along the chocolate lines to be the confectioner for Marshall Field & Co., Lord & Taylor, of New York, and others, was in Atlanta last week and told us how the "Votes for Women" happened. He was passing their headquarters on Thirty-fourth street, in New York, and noticed their window placarded with emblems and arguments of the cause. Down in one corner was a little sign which read, "Fudge Inside." The idea struck him—if the ladies wanted to sell candy, why not sell the best candy? Why not give the society the commission on the selling cost and let them sell it?

Today the "Votes for Women" Chocolates are on sale in hundreds of leading establishments. The selling cost of 5c per pound goes to the ladies. The customer gets Crane's Chocolates, which is a guarantee that the product is the very best obtainable.

Catch up with the times. Crane's "Votes for Women" Chocolates are IT.

New Spring Suits at $25

That Answer Fully the Four-Fold Test of Style, Material, Fit & Workmanship

THESE are not $35 and $40 suits at $25. We don't believe they are worth $10 or $15 more than the suits which other stores sell at $25.

—We do believe, yes, we know, that they are suits to appeal to the intelligence of women who appreciate the maximum of style, material, fit and workmanship in suits at $25.

—One marvels at the splendid stock and variety—it scarcely seems possible that so many different styles could be grouped at $25. There are frivolous models gay with picturesque draperies; there are plain styles dependent for their dash and piquancy upon the way they are cut. In between there are suits that show almost every variation of the short coat and draped skirt.

—Materials include the smart crepes; sturdy serges; fashionable failles; striking shepherd checks; and many natty novelties. Black and staple colors as well as the new soft Spring shades. Choice $25. (Ready-to-Wear, Second Floor.)

Umbrella Insurance by Wireless

The weakness of the ordinary umbrella is the fact that the ribs are held by wires which, when rusted, cause the ribs to break away and pierce a hole through the cover.

This weak point becomes the strong point in the Lyeomg Wireless Umbrella. Instead of being wired, the ribs are set in a socket, holding them securely, preventing rusting and tearing of the cover. Every Lyeomg Wireless Umbrella is guaranteed never to break a rib and poke a hole through the cover. If one does, a new one is given without charge. Lyeomg Wireless Umbrellas are $1 to $5.

Sterling Silver Card Case $5.49

Hand engraved sterling silver card case in the fashionable thin model. Fitted with vanity, mirror, card and coin holders. Soldered link chain handle.

Sturdy Wash Fabrics at 25c

For making children's suits and rompers many mothers will use only Ren-frew Devonshire Cloths. They stand the strain of rough-and-tumble wear; they sail through the tubs with a smile. Fresh, attractive patterns in stripes and checks. 32 inches, 25c.

Zephyr Ginghams

Welcome as a Spring breeze are the new Zephyr ginghams. Made of the finest bleached yarns, soft and free from dressing, in patterns that will make the "fetchingest" frocks. Stripes, checks and a host of pretty plaids, 25c.

EARTH'S SHADOW FALLS ACROSS MOON TONIGHT

Beautiful Eclipse Will Be Plainly Visible if the Skies
Are Clear

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
SAVANNAH, Ga., March 11.—Tonight, beginning at 8:41 o'clock, there will be a beautiful eclipse of the moon plainly visible to all, if the skies be clear. The fact that this phenomenon will take place in the early evening, and that it will be nearly total, invests it with unusual interest, and those who desire to witness it will be well repaid for the trouble. No glasses will be needed, the whole eclipse being plainly visible to the naked eye.

The times of the several phases as they will occur at Atlanta are given in the following table, or central time, as follows:

H. M. S.
First contact, eclipse begins 8:41:48 p. m.
Middle of eclipse 10:12:54 p. m.
Last contact, eclipse ends 11:44:00 p. m.

The first contact will occur on the eastern limb of the moon 38 degrees from the north point, and the last contact on the western limb 29 degrees from the north point. The magnitude of the eclipse will be 0.916, the moon's diameter being 1.0. It will thus be seen that the eclipse will be nearly total, only a very thin crescent of the moon's bright disk being visible at the middle phase.

The moon will rise about sunset, and by the time of the beginning of the eclipse the moon will be well up in the east. As is well known, an eclipse of the moon is caused by the moon passing through the shadow of the earth. The moon is of itself a non-luminous body, and shines only by the reflected light of the sun.

The earth's shadow extends into space as a long cone to a distance of about three times that of the moon from the earth. In its journey around the earth once a month the moon sometimes passes through this shadow, thus becoming obscured till it emerges again.

PARTIAL ECLIPSES.
Sometimes the moon does not touch the shadow at all, in which case there is no eclipse; sometimes it dips partly into the shadow, causing a partial eclipse; at other times it plunges directly through the midst of the shadow, causing a total eclipse. The diameter of the earth's shadow at the point where the moon crosses it is about 5,700 miles, and if the moon should plunge centrally into this shadow it would take about four hours for it to emerge centrally.

The diameter of the shadow, a third point is about two and two-thirds times the diameter of the moon, and the moon might be two hours entirely enveloped in the shadow. The time it takes the moon to pass through the earth's shadow formed the basis of the earliest approximation to the distance of the moon from the earth. If the moon will travel through the earth's shadow 4,700 miles in four hours, in one month it will travel over its whole orbit. From its rate of motion and the time of its revolution the distance is easy to calculate.

During this eclipse one of the plainest proofs of the rotundity of the earth may be clearly seen in the curved shape of the earth's shadow on the moon's disk.

An interesting question may be naturally asked about a lunar eclipse to explain the reason why the moon is still faintly visible while it is entirely immersed in the dark shadow of the earth. If the moon is a non-luminous body it is entirely hidden from the light of the sun. As a matter of fact the moon is nearly always faintly visible as a red copper-colored globe when entirely buried in the midst of the earth's shadow. The explanation lies in the fact that the sun's rays passing through the earth's atmosphere near the tangential surface are refracted or bent inward towards the central line of the shadow, and falling upon the moon while in this shadow they illuminate it faintly. Only the red rays of the sun's light are able to struggle through our thick atmosphere and reach the moon, hence the dull red appearance of the moon at this time.

At the present time an eclipse of the moon is not so important as an eclipse of the sun, but still they are of considerable value to astronomers. Many dates in chronology are fixed by reference to certain eclipses of the moon. For instance, the date of the Christian era is determined by a lunar eclipse which occurred upon the night before Herod died. Formerly longitude was determined by lunar eclipses, but better methods are now used.

There will not be another eclipse visible in the south this year, and none next year. In the year 1918 there will be a great total eclipse of the sun of great importance. The line of totality will extend from Oregon to Florida, and it will be visible throughout the United States.

THEODORE PAUSE, PIONEER ATLANTIAN, IS DEAD
Mr. Theodore Robert Pause, aged 71 years, a pioneer Atlantian died at his residence, 985 Gordon street, West End, at 6:45 o'clock Wednesday morning. He leaves a widow, Mrs. Anna Pause; and six daughters, Miss Clara B. Pause, Mrs. Harry H. Fuller, Mrs. Edward Denton, of Chattanooga; Mrs. J. D. Fraser, Jr., Miss Arthene Pause and Miss Alice Pause. He is survived also by three sons, Robert Pause, Jr., and Paul S. and Harry D. Pause. The funeral services will be conducted by the Rev. A. R. Holderby at the residence at 3:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon and the interment will be at West View cemetery.

MAN ON LONG HIKE STOPS IN ATLANTA
John P. Short, of New Orleans, who is making the trip from New Orleans to New York by foot, reached Atlanta this week, and remained in the city for two days.

He says that he is traveling in the interest of good roads and that he represents a good roads magazine. "I have been on the road five weeks, counting stop-overs," said Mr. Short, "and I expect to reach New York about May 15." He leaves Atlanta Wednesday night to resume his long walk.

"AUNT MALINDA," BELL HOUSE COOK, IS DEAD
Just one week after the death of Mrs. Emma Bell, the head cook at the Bell House, Malinda Fuller, fell dead Tuesday night.

"Aunt Malinda," as the old darkey was called, was a great favorite with the Bell House boys and they regret her death.

MEMBER OF COUNCIL ILL AT HIS HOME
Suffering from a stroke of paralysis, J. T. Kimbrough, real estate operator and a member of council from the tenth ward, is confined at his home on Murphy avenue. His condition, however, is improving, although it will be several days before he recovers entirely.

THEATERS

FORSYTH—Vaudeville.
BLOU—The County Sheriff.

(Criticism of initial performances at the local theaters are written by members of The Journal staff, and other matter appearing in this column is furnished by the theater management.)
There are thirty song successes in the "Ziegfeld Follies," the big musical revue which is to be exhibited at the Atlanta, Thursday and Friday with Friday matinee. The important hits include "You Must Have Experience," "Katie Rooney," "New York, What's the Matter With You?" "Just You And I And The Moon," "Never Too Old To Learn," "The Ragtime Suffragette," "Peggy of My Heart," "If a Table at Rector's Could Talk," "Cupid's Dart," "Hello Honey," "Sleeping My Honey," "In the Cradle of Love," "A Little Love, a Little Kiss," "You're Some Girl," and others. One hundred and fifty entertainers are employed in the presentation of the "Ziegfeld Follies." In addition thereto there will be exhibited a large chorus consisting of celebrated Broadway beauties. Seats are now on sale.

There were moments of elation in the offices of Mort H. Singer, in Chicago, the night of August 14, last summer, when the hundred and fiftieth performance of "A Modern Eve" brought forth a treasurer's statement which showed that the sensational Berlin operetta had exceeded by a liberal margin the hitherto invincible record of the previous year's success, "Madame Bismarck." The average weekly receipts played to by "A Modern Eve" during its summer run in Chicago shows that the latest Singer production has broken all records in that city. Neither "The Wizard of Oz" nor "Babes in Toyland" can show financial statements which equal those of Atlanta Monday. Seats go on sale tomorrow.

"A Modern Eve." It comes to the Atlanta Monday.

Laddie Cliff is headlining the Forsyth's bill this week. This is one of the cleverest comedians in the vaudeville world, and his personality wins him a high place.

One of the very best sketches ever seen in the house is the offering of Harry Tighe and his colleagues, in the hilarious musical farcelet comedy, "Taking Things Easy." Other clever numbers are Alberta Moore and Myrtle Young, in songs and dances; Carl Bial and Dora Early, in a comedy oddity; Will and Kemp and Bill and Sybilany, in acrobatics and gymnastics.

"On the Firing Line of the Greeks" is the feature film being offered at the Grand. Matinees will be this afternoon at 2 and 3:30 o'clock, and night performances at 7 and 8:30.

Prices are 50 cents on the lower floor and 25 cents balcony.

This picture depicts the actual scenes that took place between the Greeks and the Turks.

Eddie Black and his associate players have won unstinted praise from patrons of the Bijou for the excellent presentation of "The County Sheriff," which is this week's offering.

Miss Marie Claire, the leading woman, and Miss Anna Brandt, the soubrette, both are cast for excellent roles and they give an excellent account of themselves.

SAY POST OFFICIALS ARE DISCRIMINATING

Local Merchants Aver Fore McPherson Supplies Are Purchased Elsewhere

As a result of continued complaints of Atlanta merchants that they are being discriminated against by the commissary department of Fort McPherson in the purchase of supplies for the post, the Atlanta chamber of commerce has taken up the fight with Secretary of War Andrew M. Garrison, who has ordered an investigation of the alleged conditions.

Following this order Major George W. Martin, commanding the Seventeenth infantry, has conferred with President Mel R. Wilkinson, of the chamber, who in turn has referred the matter of investigation to the wholesale trade committee, of which Lynn Fort is chairman. After a conference with this committee, Mr. Wilkinson will take the matter up with Major Martin and other members of the chamber of commerce.

It is claimed by local merchants that Fort McPherson is purchasing supplies at other places that could be bought just as cheaply here and that the practice of buying out of Atlanta is becoming more pronounced than heretofore.

At the fort it is claimed that supplies are bought outside only when there is a saving over Atlanta prices.

CTTON BELT IMPROVES DINING CAR SERVICE

C. H. Jennings, superintendent of the dining car service of the Cotton Belt Route, has made an innovation in his department that he hopes will insure better service to the public. L. P. Smith, traveling passenger agent of the Cotton Belt Route, is in Atlanta Wednesday, and he stated that Mr. Jennings hereafter will rigidly examine all employees of the dining car department to make sure that all are free from communicable diseases.

Only two other railroads in the United States, the Pennsylvania and the Northern Pacific, have adopted this feature.

Cold Weather, Rain And Blustery Wind Expected Thursday

Weather Man Forecasts Most Disagreeable Day—Relief
May Come Friday

Cold weather, rain and high wind is the gloomy forecast of the weather man for Thursday.

"It will be a most disagreeable day," says the forecaster.

"There will be a considerable drop in temperature and the mercury will hover around freezing Thursday night."

A temperature of about 40 degrees is predicted for Thursday morning, but the drop will be rapid until it reaches freezing. In all probability, says the weather man, the cold will not last longer than Friday.

The rain and cold winds from the north will be responsible for the unpleasant change in temperature.

GREY BOYS ARE SHOWN NO MERCY BY JUDGE

Five Years on Chaingang Is Sentence for Holding Up
Taxicab Chauffeur

Five years on the chaingang with no fine alternative was the sentence given W. P. and C. A. Grey Wednesday morning by Judge Benjamin H. Hill for holding up and robbing C. A. Hodge, a taxicab chauffeur, on the night of February 15, an offense for which they were convicted Tuesday.

The jury recommended that the Grey boys be punished for a misdemeanor, but Judge Hill stated that he had their characters investigated, found them

"very bad" and could not act on the jury's recommendation.

W. P. Grey received an additional year, making six in all, for carrying a pistol without a license, to which he pleaded guilty.

Jury of Eleven Men Convict Tom Bowen; Gets Twenty Years

A jury of eleven men, one of the original twelve having been excused because of illness in the family, Wednesday morning returned a verdict of guilty in the case of Tom Bowen, a negro cab driver, for having robbed and severely beaten J. H. Rosier in a dark alleyway off Decatur street on the night of December 27, 1913.

Judge Benjamin H. Hill, of the criminal division of the Fulton county superior court, before whom Bowen was tried, sentenced him to twenty years, the extreme penalty.

The jury recommended that the Grey boys be punished for a misdemeanor, but Judge Hill stated that he had their characters investigated, found them

"very bad" and could not act on the jury's recommendation.

W. P. Grey received an additional year, making six in all, for carrying a pistol without a license, to which he pleaded guilty.

Magnifying Misery into Joy

Dyspeptics, Stomach Sufferers and Appetiteless People May Quickly Find Relief in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

When a stomach sufferer gets relief he is one of the happiest of human beings and he looks back at his old self with a distinct feeling of horror. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets quickly readjust the out-of-proportion stomach and digestive machinery and bring joy of life and love for food to the man or woman who will use them after each meal for a short time.

"Fully go! I used to feel just like that fellow."

The action of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a purely natural one. When taken they enter the stomach just like food. They mix with the juices of the mouth. Then they enter into and correctly build up or dilute the juices of the stomach, go into the intestines and there, when the nourishment from food is taken into the system, so follows the ingredients of these wonderful tablets. They correct the faults of the blood, and thus at the next meal the body is better able to produce a stronger and more normal digestive juice.

A short use of these tablets will re-establish your digestion, stop gastritis, heartburn, indigestion, foul breath, catarrh of the stomach and do away with dangerous stomach ailments, and many other unbearable conditions. Go to your drugstore today and begin the Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablet habit. It is the habit of health and appetite. Learn how to yearn for food, not how to spurn it. Obtain a box from any drugstore—price 50 cents. Sold wherever you can find a drug store.—(Adv.)

WE CAN NOW SUPPLY THIS HAIR PREPARATION

Our big Harmony Laboratories in Boston have caught up with their orders now, and so we won't have to disappoint any who are using Harmony Hair Beautifier and want more of it, or any who have been advised by your friends to use it. We can now fill all demands, even if it becomes even more of a rage than it is now.

Harmony Hair Beautifier is just what it is named—a hair beautifier. It is not a hair dye or hair oil—but a dainty, rose-perfumed liquid dressing to give the hair its natural gloss and brightness, wavy softness, rich beauty. Easy to apply—simply sprinkle a little on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil, and will not change color of the hair, nor darken gray hair. To keep your hair and scalp dandruff-free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick and thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet-smelling cleanliness.

Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Both guaranteed to satisfy you in every way, or your money back. Sold only at the more than 7,000 Rexall Stores, and in this town only at Mr. Elkin Drug Co., Atlanta, Ga.—(Adv.)

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First, weigh yourself and measure your chest. Then take Sargol one tablet with every meal for two weeks. Then weigh again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and most any thin man or woman can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it turns the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, life-giving nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepares it in an easily assimilated form which the body can readily accept. All this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol stops the waste and does it quickly and makes the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Jacobs' Pharmacy and other leading druggists in Atlanta and vicinity sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back.—(Adv.)

DANDRUFFY HEADS BECOME HAIRLESS

Scalp Dries—Chokes out the Hair And Prevents Its Growth

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will be silky, fluffy, lustrous, soft and look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.—(Adv.)

T. J. STOVALL ON TRIAL ON CHARGE OF ROBBERY

Defendant Asserts Charges Made by Dr. O. C. McElroy Are Without Foundation

Thomas J. Stovall, manager of the Southern Fixture and Cabinet company, was placed on trial in the criminal division of the superior court Wednesday on an indictment charging robbery. The prosecutor in the case is Dr. O. C. McElroy, proprietor of a drug store at 196 East Georgia avenue, who claims that October 12, 1912, Stovall came into his place of business and demanded immediate payment of a debt of $70, which the doctor admits he owed.

Dr. McElroy declares he told Stovall he couldn't pay the money at that time and Stovall, he charges, immediately commenced to abuse him.

Stovall was drinking, McElroy contends, and accordingly he says he started for a telephone to notify the police. Before he could get the number Stovall, who is much the larger of the two men, commenced beating him and finally knocked him unconscious for a few seconds he says. When he recovered, he asserts, he saw Stovall standing over the cash register. Stovall left, jumping into an automobile, which had been waiting. McElroy declares that immediately afterward he went to the cash register and found $70 missing.

Vivien McElroy, eleven-year-old daughter of the victim, testified that she saw part of the trouble from the residence across the street.

Stovall, who knew McElroy through the sale of fixtures to him for the drug store, denies the charges made against him and the case is being vigorously fought. The trial will probably not be concluded until Thursday morning.

WATER POWER REPORT IN GEORGIA SHOWS INCREASE

State Geologist Says Development Shows Increase of 14 per Cent Since Last Report

Georgia has developed only about 14 per cent of its water power, according to the last report of S. W. McCauley, state geologist, who predicts that within the next decade, or a shorter period, the state will be developing 278,769 horse power.

At present the development is only 121,744 horse power; but this, says the report, shows a phenomenal increase within the last decade.

Prior to 1903, the only water power development in the state of any magnitude was that of the Augusta canal; but later developments completely overshadowed the Augusta project.

Mr. McCauley has collected interesting statistics on water power capacity, and these are included in his report.

STATE SUPREME COURT ENJOINS SALOON KEEPER

What Kind of Beer Is Intoxicating? Is Still an Unanswered Question

Another of the several Macon saloon injunction cases, which grew out of the recent crusade of the Law Enforcement league of that city, was affirmed by the state supreme court Wednesday morning in a decision which held that enjoining Ed Loh, a well-known restaurant keeper and saloonist, Judge H. A. Matthews had not abused his discretion.

This was one of the cases in which the attorneys for the defendant sought to have the supreme court define just what kind of beer could be held to be intoxicating. The court did not undertake to make such a definition.

It did hold as follows: "The evidence in this case is conflicting and the court below did not abuse its discretion in granting an interlocutory injunction, restraining the defendant from maintaining a 'blind tiger' and selling intoxicating beers and intoxicating liquors at that place."

SILVER LOVING CUP TO CARLOS H. MASON

Retiring Chairman of Police Board Complimented by the Members of Department

A very handsome silver loving cup was presented Tuesday night to Carlos H. Mason, retiring chairman of the board of police commissioners, by the members of the police department.

Lowry Arnold, solicitor of the city court of Atlanta and a close friend of Mr. Mason, made the presentation speech, in which he said many nice things about Mr. Mason and the police department, the police board concurring in every word.

On account of his recent severe burn, which laid him up several weeks in a hospital and which is not healed yet, Mr. Mason was unable to be present to accept the cup and sent his brother, Claude Mason, to accept it for him and express his heartfelt appreciation.

There are two inscriptions on the cup, the first reading as follows: "Hon. Carlos H. Mason, served as Police Commissioner Atlanta Ga., March 20, 1908, to March 10, 1914. Chairman five years, March 9, 1909, to March 10, 1914."

The other inscription reads: "Presented to Carlos H. Mason by the members of the Atlanta police department as a token of their love and appreciation of his kindness and untiring efforts in their behalf of the upbuilding of the department during his six years' service as a police commissioner."

TO DECIDE ON A PLAN FOR CITY'S INSURANCE Insurance Committee Will Meet to Arrange Division Among Agents

The insurance committee of general council will meet Wednesday afternoon to determine a plan for the distribution of the city's fire and other insurance among the various companies doing business in Atlanta.

For several years the arrangement has been as follows, by agreement between the city and the insurance exchange: Fifty per cent of the business is divided equally among all the agents. The other 50 per cent is pro-rated among the agents according to the amount of their tax paid to the city on gross receipts.

Quite a portion of the city's insurance will expire this year, which makes it necessary to determine whether the business shall continue to be divided in this manner or a new arrangement agreed upon.

The total of the city's business runs between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000.

Last call for the moth ball!

The country is about resigned to the establishment of the tango and the income tax.

The Courageous and Honorable Course.

Because congress is going to vindicate national honor and assert economic justice by repealing the provision of the Panama canal act which exempts coastwise shipping from payment of tolls, certain interests are trying desperately to make it appear that this course will be trucking to British demands. So absurd a contention finds no sympathy among thinking Americans. A weak nation might persist in manifest error, but a nation of the moral and physical strength of the United States has no hesitancy in squaring itself with principles of right dealing. The attitude of congress and of the administration reflects the country's conviction and is a tribute to the courage no less than the common sense of the American public.

Congress purposes to repeal the free-tolls provision simply because it knows that this exemption is contrary to the letter and spirit of our treaty with Great Britain and because, further, such exemption would be in effect a subsidy to a special interest that already holds a monopoly in its particular province of transportation. But what can be said of those would-be mischief-makers who attempt to beget anti-British sentiment in order that a monopoly may receive government patronage? Their cries of "surrender to foreign demands" are treachery, indeed, treachery to the nation's honor and the public's welfare. The New York World aptly remarks:

It sometimes requires moral courage of a high order to resist reproaches of this kind, but such is not the case in the present instance. The ultra-patriots who are making the disturbance have been caught with both hands in the National Treasury. Their plans for loot were skillfully laid. Although they have been at the job a long time, their exposure is complete. To turn upon them now calls for nothing more than common sense, common courage and common honesty. The defeat of the subsidy crowd, however, should not end the matter. It is due to the people and to congress itself that the authors of this raid upon the nation's honor, the nation's peace and the nation's money be revealed, as their nefarious schemes have been.
Names should be named. The sources of greed should be explored. The whole combination of plunder and perfidy should be dragged into daylight as a lesson and a warning.

Many a man has been pronounced heartless who later died of heart failure.

Next on the program will be an exhibition of the celebrated Atlanta spring climate.

Growth of Electric Railways.

The mileage of electric railway lines in New York state increased forty-four per cent during the decade 1902-12, according to a bulletin of the federal census bureau, while the number of passengers increased eighty-six per cent, "from something over a billion to the extraordinary total of 2,126,964,000."
The World aptly comments:

"If ten or twenty years ago the steam railroads of the state could have foreseen any such increase in street railway passenger business, they would have gone into a panic. But the fact is that their own passenger traffic has largely and continuously increased in the same time. It is a new traffic which the electric lines have developed. It is still confined to short distances. If here and there it has robbed the steam roads of local business, it has more than made good the loss in stimulating long-distance travel."

Georgia's record in this regard, as The Journal pointed out some weeks ago, has been noteworthy; its increase in mileage and earning capacity of electric lines has exceeded that of any neighboring state.
At the same time the prosperity of railroads has been particularly gratifying. The electric lines have opened and developed fields of transportation that did not invite and, perhaps, would not have been profitable to the steam railroad. There was, and still is, ample room for both enterprises; indeed, in many instances they supplement and help each other.

The south offers a rich future to electric railways.
This region is growing in population, in industrial output and agricultural wealth. Villages are waxing into towns and towns into cities. The field of business activity is becoming wider and more varied.
These conditions require and will naturally develop more facilities for communication.

Atlanta is profiting greatly by the interurban electric lines that link it to outlying towns, and the intermediate territory also is being upbuilt. Capital is naturally cautious in such undertakings, as there is manifest danger in premature ventures. But the decades just ahead will undoubtedly witness a doubling and trebling of electric railways in the south.

even your jingo altogether approves of the

Macon's Admirable Enterprise

No one who has watched Macon's development in recent years will doubt the success of its latest enterprise, the organization of a company to utilize the Ocmulgee river as a commercial route to the sea. The city's best thought and energy have rallied to this undertaking; a thoroughgoing campaign to assemble the necessary capital has been launched; a considerable part of the fund required has already been subscribed; and the splendid vigor and faith which characterize the community make it a practical certainty that the remainder will soon be in hand.

This is a project in which all Georgia is concerned, and particularly that important part of the state in the region of the Ocmulgee between Macon and Brunswick. A line of boats operating between these points would add greatly to the convenience and economy of shipping and would release fresh powers of growth and advancement throughout the intervening country.

Atlanta congratulates its progressive neighbor on this timely and constructive piece of work; and The Journal offers Macon its cordial good wishes for speedy success.

Consider the man who is always on time—also the time he wastes in waiting for the other man.

The Work of the Census Bureau.

Newspapers the country over are commending Director Harris of the Federal Census Bureau for the quickness and energy and organization he has brought to that important branch of government service. Especially praiseworthy, thinks the Louisville Courier-Journal, is his purpose to issue statistical reports more promptly. "The longer the publication is delayed," says the Courier-Journal, "the less valuable are the census compilations. They have a lasting value, it is true, but their greatest benefit lies in present rather than in future use."
In promising the publication more rapidly than heretofore, Director Harris shows that he has recognized the bureau's chief weakness and is making a commendable effort to remedy it.

The Census Bureau is charged with peculiarly broad responsibilities, and if efficiently conducted it can render the country service of inestimable worth.
Its duties, as we are told, are no longer limited to enumerating the population every ten years. It is continually gathering data on divers subjects of economic and social interest. Its reports for the next few years will cover a wide range of affairs, including manufactures, transportation, public health, births, deaths, municipal government, rural development, farm production and scores of other matters that vitally concern the people's common interest.

Adequate and dependable statistics are essential to clear thinking and wise action in every field of endeavor. Full knowledge of facts is the only basis on which most problems can be solved. In compiling important facts and giving them currency, the Census Bureau becomes a great instrument of progress.
Mr. Harris is determined to make census reports of all kinds "more accessible and more serviceable to the American people." He has already improved the department to a noteworthy degree, and it is a source of peculiar pleasure to his fellow Georgians to observe the approval his good work is winning in other parts of the Union.

If people were as good as their obituaries the recording angel would soon be looking for another job.

The Value of Georgia's Crops.

Georgia leads the southeast and, with the exception of Texas, all southern states, including Missouri, Oklahoma, Maryland and West Virginia, in the value of its agricultural products. Last year Georgia's crops amounted to two hundred and seventeen million, seven hundred and fifty-three thousand dollars. This reckoning, it should be noted, is based on thirteen crops of general importance in the south—corn, wheat, oats, barley, rye, buckwheat, flaxseed, rice, Irish potatoes, sweet potatoes, hay, tobacco and cotton—so that a number of products, particularly abundant in Georgia, fruits for instance, are not included. The following table, compiled by the Manufacturer's Record, shows the total value of the thirteen crops in each southern state in 1913 and in 1909:

	1913.	1909.
Alabama	$156,175,000	$108,095,000
Arkansas	103,182,000	86,211,000
Florida	19,688,000	14,932,000
Georgia	217,753,000	176,959,000
Kentucky	110,654,000	114,292,000
Louisiana	73,325,000	47,577,000
Maryland	35,089,000	31,451,000
Mississippi	130,622,000	107,054,000
Missouri	174,520,000	188,524,000
North Carolina	150,203,000	102,783,000
Oklahoma	111,532,000	112,344,000
South Carolina	139,076,000	109,699,000
Tennessee	114,249,000	98,341,000
Texas	400,231,000	244,721,000
Virginia	100,807,000	71,153,000
West Virginia	42,213,000	27,749,000
Total	$2,079,279,000	$1,637,198,000
United States	$4,905,881,000	$4,357,595,000

It will be noted that the increase in the south between 1909 and 1914 was from $1,637,198,000 to $2,179,279,000, a gain of $442,081,000, or twenty-seven per cent. The increase in the rest of the country, as the Record points out, $106,205,000, or three and nine-tenths per cent.

There could be no surer evidence of the South's productive wealth and its agricultural progress.
More remarkable, however, than any record made thus far is the vast store of latent treasure yet to be developed. It was not until years comparatively recent that scientific methods were applied to the resources of the South's soil. When agricultural education has been fully extended and natural opportunities are fairly utilized, this region will be able to supply the entire country's needs for long generations to come.

The Conning Tower

BY FRANKLIN P. ADAMS.

THE CRY OF THE SLEEPLESS.

With no disrespect to Mrs. Browning's heirs.
Do ye hear the carpet-beaters, O my neighbors?
Do ye hear them wield their sticks?
They are making morning hideous with their labors.
And they wake me up at six.
The young girls are beating on the Smyrnas;
The young boys are tapping at the rugs;
The janitor is jolting at the furnace;
And it drives me nearly bugs.
But the next-door carpets, O my neighbors,
They are beaten cruelly.
And I long for some bayonets and sabers
In this country of the free.

OLD STUFF.

Sir: We were playing Kellypuff and Freddy Steele, that tango-partner of fortune, complained that he got no credit for his really good shots; whereupon I quoth, just like that: "Ah, take the cash, and let the credit go!" and nobody fractured a cacinination. B. H.

At a dance the former editor of The Masses attended it was suggested that his partner was the girl who showed the maxixe to Max Eastman. (It wasn't, and there wasn't any dance; but what is Truth compared with one's Art?)

THE DIARY OF OUR OWN SAMUEL PEPYS.

March 5.—Up by times, and to my office. Read there The Saturday Review, and noted therein how that the editor commended to my attention an article by the poet Swinburne, and never before published. A wondrous piece of writing, saith the editor, and so I did read it. It was of Sappho, and the dullest piece of prose of Swinburne's ever I read, which is no faint praise neither. Not even Thomas Hardy in his poetic drama can be so dull as Swinburne in his prose, methought. To Misses Holloise's that hath been very ill, and I glad of seeing her better than in many weeks.
So home, and found Nelly Tyler there for dinner, and B. Pemberton, too, and we made what provender we had for two reach for four, and we had overplenty, too, which shewed to me we do have more than we need,
as a rule.

6.—All the day at my office, labouring at this and at that. There all the evening too, busied with matters of great import, but not to myself. Heard this day from Mistress Lura Fitch the beautiful school teacher, how that she is a wintering in the state of Maine, and I wish I might be with her; that is, I would admire to have sought to do but play all the day. Yet
I doubt I should be content with that, happen I had no stint to accomplish. Home, late, and to bed.

As to Illustration's Artless Aid, there is Mr. Anton Otto Fischer, who drew the pictures to "What Happened to Cælle," in the satvepost. "It was a depressing fog, for no air stirred it," is the legend that the drawing illumines. But, as G. H. N. cautiously points out, there was enough air in motion to keep the ship's flags flying full.

The new spring gowns, we gather, are to be closer to the figure, the figure resembling $200.

Gadski, in superb voice, sang Elia and looked very slender in a bridal costume of cut crystal and diamonds.—Evening Sun.

Any one that couldn't look slender in that costume couldn't look slender.

SUNBEAM.

(From "Swatches," by Walter Smith Griffith, of Jersey City.)

When clouds o'erhang a leaden sky,
And hope seems gone and nothing nigh;
When tangled skeins enshroud Life's threads,
And Gloom's harsh mantle o'er all spreads,
A Sunbeam cheers the soul.

A Sunbeam! Aye! 'Tis Life's rare hope,
Too often, often many a grope;
But naught can man's ray cheery way
When thou, sweet Sunbeam, light the day
With golden beams of joy.

With thou, sweet Sunbeam, as my pride,
With thy dear soul to be my guide
Up Life's steep hill and o'er the rocks
That lend to age its fearsome mocks,
I'll go without a fear.

No minatory sense of shame
Can dim my Sunbeam's happy fame—
All light, no darkness—naught but hope
Our guiding star, we will not mope,
But onward, upward go.

All else is dross, but Love is best,
All worldliness is dross and rest,
To love, and love with all our might
Is Heaven's part, the soul's delight,
And endless paens of song.

What rapture in the passion-spell
Of thou, sweet Sunbeam, who can tell?
Thy voice is like an angel's kiss,
Thy soul for me holds honeyed bliss
And endless paens of song.

Quips and Quiddities

Pat Flannigan, who worked in the Boston navy yard, broke the rules of that establishment every day by sneaking off to a retired spot and smoking his pipe after lunch. He knew that if he should be detected in this breach of discipline dismissal would follow au-tomatically, but his love of tobacco got the best of him.

One afternoon, when his pipe was blazing hot, and the clouds of smoke encircled his head, the captain in command of the yard discovered him.

Pat knew his job was gone, but he paid no attention to the commandant.

"Well, my man," demanded the captain, "what have you to say?"

"Do you know who I am?" inquired the captain, wraithfully.

Flannigan, puffing steadily on his pipe, made no response.

"I am the commandant of this yard!" thundered the officer.

Pat turned his head slowly and looked up at him.

"Shure," he said, approvingly, "you've got a good job. Hold on to it!"—Popular Magazine.

"At the battle of Cedar Creek," said the veteran captain of a company in one of Virginia's bravest regiments, "my company, which generally wasn't afraid of the arch fiend himself, grew demoralized and panic stricken. Despite all my efforts, they broke and started pell-mell for the rear."

"As one fellow who I knew was as fearless as a lion dashed by me I drew my revolver, and cried:
"Halt, and return to your place! If you don't, I will shoot!"

"Shoot and be hanged!" he replied, never slackening his pace. "What's one bullet to a basketful?"—

APPRECIATE YOURSELF

By E. K. WOOLLEY.
(Copyright, 1914, by E. K. Woolley.)

The alarm clock clattered and the housewife, who had been awake and listening for the arising signal, sighed as she thought of another long day of duties.
She sighed again as she glanced into the mirror of the medicine chest before performing her hasty morning ablutions. There were fret lines at the corners of her mouth. She sighed again when, house gown and morning cap donned, she descended kitchenward and lighted the gas and put the tea kettle on.

"It's the same old thing every day," her thoughts ran. "Just work—everlasting work. If I could see anything gained by it—but my kind of work isn't even appreciated. I'm just a machine for the convenience of others."

"It's get up in the morning, hustle breakfast, hustle husband off to work, hustle the children's dressing, hustle them off to school, then hustle to clean up the house, hustle for lunch, hustle with the sewing, and the baking, hustle the tradesman, hustle the dinner, hustle on a clean dress, hustle the family together for dinner, hustle clean-up afterward, hustle the children to bed, and me getting to bed last of all."

"It's just one horrid hustle after another, with never a minute for rest. Life is just one miserable monotony of work day after day, for a woman. Why didn't the Lord make me a man so that I might do work that is appreciated and have some good out of life?"

The man sighed, too, when the alarm clock clattered, and when a soprano voice from below demanded that he arise and partake of the breakfast that was almost ready he sighed again. And the breakfast he ate without appetite, for he was thinking of the price of eggs and bacon and the bills that came in the first of the month.

"What is life for a man, anyway?" he thought.
"Everybody has his hand out to a man—for the money they expect him to put into it. It's pay, pay, pay. If I couldn't pay I'd be a down-and-outer. It takes all I can make to live. Nobody cares a hang about ME. All they want is my money. I'm nothing but a paving machine for the convenience of others, to be stung and soaked for all that can be got out of me. Why do women have all the easy times, anyway?"

And so the wail of self-pity rises in the souls of men and women, and the lines of discontent grow deep in their faces.

Each thinks his or her lot is the harder. Each complains of unappreciation. Yet each one may be building strongly and beautifully.

You see, we can't all be architects and great engineers. Most of us are simply the brickmasons, the plumbers, and such. There could be no great edifices without us. According to our work, the work of the unseen and the seemingly unimportant, the great work stands the tests of time and use.

And so, each one of us is great, no matter how small our share in the world's work. And if our praises are not sung throughout the world, let them be sung in family circles, where happiness nearly always follows expressed appreciation.

Do not belittle your own part in the scheme of life.
If there is nobody else to appreciate you, appreciate what you know is good in yourself. It will make the way much pleasanter.

Four separate tramway routes are to be laid down in the Holy City of Jerusalem. They will start from the Jaffa Gate, the principal entrance into the city, and run outside the city walls through the newer parts of Jerusalem. The first, which will have a length of about two miles, will give easy access to what may be termed the business quarter of the Holy city, while the second, of similar length, will link up the large Jewish colonies to the north with the city's principal entrance. The third will encircle the old city, embracing many of its most historic sites, such as Gordon's Calvary, believed by many scholars to be the scene of the Crucifixion, the Tomb of the Kings, the Mount of Olives, and the Valley of Jehoshaphat. The fourth line will run from the Jaffa Gate to Bethlehem, some six miles distant.—Chicago

The free tolls clause in the Canal law, whose repeal the President has just urged with impressive emphasis, has failed to stand the test of expert scrutiny at every point where the light has been turned on.
The President has taken his attitude solely upon the question of national honor, and certainly he had no need to plead anything else for its justification. But the stupidity of the measure has been hardly less glaring than its dishonesty. It has been obvious from the start that it would work against our own economic interests as well as those of the rest of the commercial world. The effect would be to subsidize an already profitable monopoly, which will be even more profitable when the Canal is opened, though it pays for the privilege of passage at the same rates as all other vessels.—Boston Transcript.

Making Laws for the Air

By Frederic J. Haskin

Aviation has ushered in a new angle to an old ac-cene. In a word, laws for the control of the air are in the making. Lawyers long ago enacted legislation to govern human locomotion on land and on water, and now they must do the same with the air. Aviation has advanced from the field of experimentation, through the realm of science, and thence within the pale of commerce. Technically speaking, aerial navigation still is a matter of experimentation, and will ever be a science; but in the legal sense its general adoption by venturesome spirits of all nationalities, who take no cognizance of national boundaries—rising in one country and alighting in another—has brought it within the purview of international commercial and navigation laws. Hence the gradual growth at the present time of a new jurisprudence.

If an Italian bird-man should cross the Alps and come down on the roof of the capitol building in Rome the Swiss authorities would not know what to do with him. In fact, legally, they could do absolutely nothing. A German aeroplane flies over Calais, sweeps across the channel and hovers above Merrie England; but no matter how much of a terrible "seacreship" the craft may seem to the French and British governments, whatever concrete objections they may have evaporate into vain expostulations for lack of a recognized aerial code.

If two aerial grayhounds collide in mid-air there is no court anywhere in the world to determine damage and liability. There is not even a tribunal of practical aviators empowered to hear such a case, except, of course, a special board of arbitration formed for the purpose with the mutual consent of the contending parties. Even then the decision would not be binding if the one who drew the short straw refused to abide by its arbitration. When there is a catastrophe on land the machinery of the law may be set in motion within half an hour. The same is true of subway traffic beneath the surface of the earth. No dispute or problem that rises out of the high seas is independent of the admiralty courts or too complex to be decided by admiralty law.

The type of air vessel which also navigates on water, the hydro-aeroplane, certainly invades the field of commerce, though it has no definite status in the courts at present. The hydro-aeroplane owners themselves wish it were otherwise, in order that they may know just where they stand. Nevertheless, the only standard they have to go by is a ruling made last month by A. L. Thurman, solicitor of the federal department of commerce, to the effect that for the purposes of water navigation the hydro-aeroplane is a motor boat. This case arose over the application of the company which owns and operates the air boat between Tampa and St. Petersburg, Fla., to the steamboat authorities for a license to operate.

The application was passed from one puzzled official to another until it got up to the proper cabinet officer at the capital of the nation, and the solicitor of the department of commerce caught it on the rebound. There it was classified as a motor boat. The opinion holds that as the hydro-aeroplane is dependent to a certain extent upon its cruise along the water in order to attain speed with which to hoist itself into the air, and must alight on the water, it is just as likely to collide with other craft as any vessel which travels wholly on the water. Also, as it is equipped with an engine it is just as exposed to a gasoline fire as a full fledged motor boat, and, therefore, it must be equipped with a regular motor boat fire extinguishing apparatus. Furthermore, being rated as a motor boat, it must have an officially licensed motor boat operator, notwithstanding the fact that out of a thousand men who can skillfully operate a regular motor boat not more than one is trained to run a hydro-aerplane.

This ruling, which must have the effect of law until a special aerial code is drawn, is necessarily futile when followed to the last analysis, as officialdom itself ruefully admits. If a hydro-aeroplane must ever be held within the limits of motor boat regulations, then perforce it must also be equipped with a whistle, green and red lights and life preservers, like any other motor boat. The ruling itself, while demanding a whistle, admitted that the hydro's engine makes a noise that will smother the shrill blasts of the whistle.
The life preservers are also demanded, notwithstanding the fact that they would be about as valuable in accident, the vessel being in the air nine-tenths of the time, as a paper house in a cyclone. Even here the opinion is it is remarked that it might be impossible for a hydro-aeroplane to conform to all the provisions of the law because of its limited weight capacity. Obviously, special hydro-aeroplane regulations are needed, and even now the government is considering the matter.

One cannot say as much for the control of all other air craft not of the hydro variety, or even for the air control of these, primarily aerial as they are. And yet, aeronautics represent investments of millions of dollars,

SPEAKING OF VOTES---

CITY ASKS FOR BIDS ON TWO AUTO FIRE ENGINESNew Fifth and Eighth Ward Stations Will Be Equipped With Latest Apparatus

Instead of waiting until the June finance sheet to ask bids for fire apparatus for the new fifth ward station—the money to build the station being in the January sheet—the city will ask for bids now, so that the apparatus will be here about the same time the June sheet goes through council, and by this means save a delay of several months.

For the eighth ward station the finance sheet carries an appropriation of $21,000, which is sufficient to build the station and purchase apparatus. Thus the city will ask for bids on two apparatus, and they will be automobile apparatus of the latest type. The specifications will call for a combination auto pump and hose wagon, guaranteed to deliver not less than 300 gallons per minute, and to have carrying capacity for 1,000 feet of 2 1/2-inch hose.

The board of firemasters, at a meeting Tuesday, invited competitive plans from architects for the station in the eighth ward. It will be built on the site of a bungalow, so as not to conflict with the residences in its neighborhood, the site being on West Peachtree street, near Fourteenth street. The fifth ward station probably will be a bungalow also.

BROYLES AND JACKSON
TALK ABOUT PROHIBITIONTwo Foes of Vice Stress Necessity of Eternal Warfare on Forces of Evil

"Of course the prohibition law does not stop the sale of liquor. The law is being broken every day," declared Judge Nash R. Broyles, of the record-er's bench, addressing Epworth leaguers at the First Methodist church Tuesday night.

"Where will you find a law on the statute books that is not broken?" he asked. "From the beginning of time we have had a law against murder. Yet it has been broken repeatedly since we have had it. All laws are broken."

Judge Broyles recalled predictions by business men, when the prohibition bill was pending, that if it passed Atlanta would become a dead town.

"What do we see today?" he demanded.

Judge Broyles said the battles of the Civil war were but skirmishes in contrast with the terrific war on crime.

"Yet after centuries of that war crime continues," he said. "Perhaps the campaign has been pitched on a wrong basis. If we would stop crime, we cannot do that merely by saying 'Go back.' We must stop it at its sources, at its springs. I know of no more prolific source than that of drinking and selling intoxicating liquors."

"SLOWED, IF NOT STOPPED,"

"Maybe we have not stopped the sale of liquor, but we have slowed it up considerably."

Marion Jackson, the other speaker of the evening, is the author of the Men and Religion Bulletin that have been attacked by the Citizens' league.

Mr. Jackson scored "our friends, the "well known business men" of Atlanta," for what he termed their inconsistency in advocating a "liberal" policy for Atlanta.

"Why should not the churches of Atlanta point their fingers at men who wear the ermine and garb of—well, what's the use of calling names? You know who I mean—men who hold offices of trust and are going back on their oaths."

Mr. Jackson defended the aggressive policy of the churches.

"How, in the name of God, can the churches keep hands off?" he asked.

Mollycoddle
Laxatives

Of the many laxatives on the market, most merely clear the intestinal tract, but do not release the dammed-up bile, which is the great poison-destroyer of the body.

To relieve such trouble as bad breath, headache, dizziness, loss of appetite, constipation, biliousness, you must release the dammed-up bile. Merely washing out the intestines with salts, mineral waters, oils and other mollycoddle laxatives will not release the bile.

Podophyllin is the one perfect and harmless substitute for calomel, but its bitter taste and griping, nauseating effects made it unpopular.

PoDoLax Releases the Bile

For years chemists have been trying to take the bitterness, gripe and nausea out of Podophyllin, recognizing that it would then be the ideal liver regulator. At last this has been done and given to the world under the name of PoDoLax.

PoDoLax is a Podophyllin formula with all undesirable features taken out. PoDoLax is for every member of the family—young or old. It should be in every medicine cabinet. You will thank us for explaining it after you have tried it. Get a bottle today and use it as soon as you notice a coated tongue or bad breath. Start the Bile—Nature does the rest.—(Adv.)

Phi Delta Theta Members Plan Big Time Saturday Evening at Hotel

Local members, active and alumni, of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity, are manifesting more than usual interest in their "speechless" banquet with which they will celebrate founders' day at the Hotel Ansley Saturday evening. Though the arrangements are in charge of a committee from the Atlanta Alumni association of the "frat," members of the Tech chapter are invited and the chapter from Emory college will attend in a body. Also there will be prominent "Phis" from out of the city in attendance.

The details for the unique affair are in the hands of A. G. Adams, Jr., chairman; E. V. Carter, Jr., G. M. Stout, Frank Gillespie, Grover Middlebrooks and Fred Houser.

New Things for the Tiny Tots, Too
In the Junior Department---Third Floor

In the midst of all our interest in the new fashions we have not forgotten the tots.

That's because we have a shop that concerns itself with children's wants only!

So whether all the rest of the world of femininity is thinking and talking new suits, new dresses and new hats, the mother will find that the Junior Department has worked and planned for the baby.

New things for the baby are ready!

We speak of:

Infants' Caps 50c to $5.00—Crepes, Swisses and lingerie; prettied with daintiest embroideries and satin rosettes. Machine and handmade; bonnets with elastics that insure a snug fit.

Carriage Covers $1.25 to $7.50—Simple machine-made covers; elaborate and elegant hand-embroidered covers.

Baby Blankets 50c to $7.50—In light colors, of cotton to $1.50; wool $3.50 to $7.50.

Cashmere Sacques 50c to $5—A beautiful variety of both machine and handmade; the embroidery work on some is exquisite.

Flannelette Wrappers 50c to $1.00. Hand Embroidered Wrappers $2.25 to $10.00—of cashmere; others are of crepe de chine and Dresden silks.

Bootees 25c to $1.50—Also soft soled shoes and moccasins.

Arnold's Knit Goods in fullest variety. Dresses—a world of them between the price extremes, 50c and $25.00. As the prices mount the dainty little French handmade affairs become more numerous and charming.

Mr. and Mrs. Collier to Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Collier will entertain at dinner Thursday evening at their home in Ansley Park in compliment to Dr. and Mrs. Lex Sprattling, who are spending several days at the majestic prior to their departure for Norfolk, Va. Dr. Sprattling, who has been living in the city for the past six months, has been recently appointed fleet surgeon and has been ordered to Norfolk to join the Atlantic squadron. Mr. and Mrs. Collier's guests will include eight friends.

To Miss Grant

Miss Margaret Grant was the central figure in a box party at the Atlanta theater Tuesday evening, at which a group of friends entertained in her honor previous to her departure Wednesday for a three months' trip abroad with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Grant.

Following the performance the party was entertained at supper at the Piedmont club, where covers were laid for Miss Grant, Miss Marion Phinizy, of Augusta; Miss Martha Susan Phinizy and Miss Nellie Phinizy, of Athens; Miss Katherine Ellis, Miss Harriet Calhoun, Miss Adeline Ellis, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Alsop, Jr., Mr. Ralph Ragan, Mr. Stewart Witham, Mr. Edward Alfriend, Mr. Eugene Haynes, Mr. Edward Barnett and Dr. Montague Boyd.

Mrs. Peters Entertains Mrs. Plane

Mrs. E. C. Peters gave a beautiful dinner Tuesday evening at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue, in honor of her aunt, Mrs. C. H. Plane, who celebrated her birthday anniversary.

The attractive table had a centerpiece of jonquills and maidenhair fern with all minor details carried out in yellow. Only members of the family were present.

Mrs. Hamilton Douglas will deliver a series of lectures at the Woman's club on the "Origin of the Constitution and the Republican Form of Government."

The lectures will be given on Thursday mornings from 11 to 12 o'clock. Club members are cordially invited to attend. Those who are not members will be admitted for a small admission fee.

Mrs. Douglas is the chairman of parliamentary law at the club and her lectures are always anticipated with interest and pleasure.

Mrs. Clarke Gives Bridge Luncheon

A beautiful event of Tuesday was the bridge luncheon at which Mrs. John Clarke was hostess at her home on Peachtree street in compliment to Mrs. Warren Griffith, of Baltimore, who has been pleasantly entertained during her visit to her sister, Mrs. L. G. Dorsey.

A French basket holding a graceful arrangement of jonquills formed the centerpiece of the beautifully appointed table and around the central decoration were smaller baskets filled with the bright spring blossoms, and the color note of gold was seen in all the minor appointments. Mrs. Clarke was assisted in entertaining by her daughter, Mrs. A. D. Adair, Jr., and invited to meet the guest of honor were ten friends among the married contingent.

Miss Sharp to Entertain Bridge Club

Miss Caro Sharp will entertain the members of her bridge club Thursday morning at her home on West Peachtree street. Twelve friends will be guests of the occasion.

Evening Bridge Party

Mr. and Mrs. Otto F. Fell will entertain twelve guests at bridge Wednesday evening at their home in the Piedmont apartments, on Eleventh street.

THE SERVANT QUESTION SOLVED

So Far as This Lady is Concerned—She Doesn't Seem to Need One.

Pollock, La.—Mrs. T. S. Blair, of this town, has the following to say, which should be of interest to women generally: "For months my health was very bad, and the medicines I took did not seem to do me any good."

I was very weak and nervous, and some days I could not be up."

I asked my husband to get me a bottle of Cardui, the woman's tonic, to try, and before I had taken one bottle I was up and doing my work. Before I commenced taking Cardui I had such spells I was not able to do anything. Now I have only taken three bottles of Cardui in all, and I feel fine."

A few months ago I weighed 135 pounds. Now I weigh 158, and I do all my own work, cook, wash and milk—and feel like I did when I was 'sweet sixteen.'

"Taking Cardui has cured me." As a relief from the distressing symptoms of womanly ailments, nothing has been found during the past fifty years that would take the place of Cardui.

Its superiority is still unquestioned as a mild, building tonic for cases of womanly weakness where tired nature needs help. Made from purely vegetable ingredients, Cardui has no bad after effects and can do you nothing but good.

Try Cardui.

On Seeing a Picture Exhibit

BY NITA BLACK.

Art or the creation of art as the expression of a human soul on a bit of pale colored canvas means not so much to us southerners perhaps as the creation of commercial enterprises expressed on heavily engraved coupons. Yet sometimes a brave spirit dares to declare a slavery to the ideal rather than the material. Such a one is now attempting to bring before the hustling throngs of our very commercial city a display of glimpses of the old world and the new put into pictures of enchanting colors and misty atmosphere.

Hung in a real studio with a real skylight letting in the northern rays is this collection of paintings being exhibited this week by Miss Lula Ross, a Georgia artist, who has come back to her native state after many years of study and work in Italy and France. How to judge these pictures as you sit on the roomy divan and sip a friendly cup of tea depends largely on you. A student of humanity could easily depict the character of each critic who knowingly or indifferently or prosaically criticizes each canvas. You might say that you could not appreciate the mystery of a crouching woman enveloped in a whirl of opalescent thought waves, or you would call them if you had imagination or just a silly blot of green and yellow paint if you were a very practical person. At any rate if you are too engrossed in things to feel the spirit of things you can at least appreciate the colors that give to each canvas a rich and deep tone of originality and daring. Not the vivid, mixed, crashing paints of the cubists, but the jeweled red and silvery blue of Turner and Inness.

One scene of an Italian villa decked with a blooming rose vine that glows pink against a greenish blue sky that only Italy has, brings you into the sunny land of the Mediterranean; then in a moment your eye passes to another canvas radiant with the more tropical sunlight of Mexico and the more gorgeous red of the flowering vine of that land, and beyond that picture is a damp, autumn-tinted clump of trees hugging the side of a hill here in Georgia when the air is heavy and the smoke from the cabins hangs low and the streams shine like glass in the September sun. On the south wall hangs a picture of our southern peach trees, whose soft pink blossoms are waving gently before a whitewashed cabin in the midst of a broomsedge field.

Don't go to an exhibition of paintings and judge them as you would a photograph. For then you miss the soul of the person who has put a part of herself into those pictures, for remember their duplicate is nowhere else in the world. But wander out Ponce de Leon avenue and turn into Durant street, then look until you see a much smeared palette hanging beside a doorway and go in there and lose yourself for a while in another world far from clanging street cars and skyscrapers.

Mr. Kenneth Macgowan At Drama League

The Drama league will meet Thursday afternoon at 3:30 in Cable hall. Mr. Kenneth Macgowan, of the Boston Transcript, will speak on "The Local Theater as a Solution of Present Evils in the American Theater."

Mr. Macgowan is a brilliant graduate of Harvard, where he was president of the famous Harvard Dramatic club, and is a well-known writer on stage subjects. His address will be of especial interest in Atlanta, where there is much discussion at present as to the feasibility of maintaining and supporting a repertoire theater that should not only fulfill the functions of a stock company, but should foster and encourage a local southern drama.

Mrs. Jacques Futelle, who is in the city, has been invited to be present and will be introduced to the audience.

Admission to the meeting will be, as usual, free to all members, but, as the hall was overcrowded at the last meeting, they are advised to come early and to present membership tickets.

Hoosier "White Beauty"

advertised in leading magazines

Is a Dollar a Big Price to Pay for Having This Wonderful HOOSIER Cabinet in Your Home?

The past three days, when you postponed coming to examine this Hoosier Cabinet, it wasn't because you doubted the wisdom of spending a dollar to have it put in your home—

You waited because you thought there still was time to make up your mind. But now that time approaches an end. What important consideration can possibly weigh against the fact that

You now take miles of steps a Hoosier will save!

If you were to delay decision until this great opportunity closes, could you possibly justify your neglect of your own valuable time and health? In five minutes after you examine this Hoosier you can decide—

- (1) Whether you want it now on this liberal Hoosier plan, or
- (2) Whether you will wait until the opportunity is gone and regular terms prevail.

But five minutes after the Plan closes, you cannot decide. (The opportunity will be ended for you.)

Therefore Read this Hoosier Plan Carefully:

1. One dollar puts any Hoosier you select in your home.
2. One dollar weekly dues quickly pay for it.
3. The low cash price, fixed by the factory, prevails absolutely.

The Only Place in Town Where Hoosiers Are Sold

23 E. Alabama St., Just Off Whitehall

You are under no obligations to take any cabinet, but you surely must realize an obligation to yourself to see the cabinet before you let this plan go by. Tomorrow may be your last opportunity.

"WHITE BEAUTY"—the new Hoosier with the white interior finish (this is being chosen by 3 women out of 4) groups three cupboards and a pantry around a sliding metal table so you can sit down while you work and store more than 400 articles in easy reach. It's a boon to women who want a little more rest IN THIS LIFE.

SEE IT IN OUR WINDOW—note the scientific arrangement that reduces even reaching to the minimum—observe the practical value of each of the 40 separate and distinct tested features—17 of which are new.

Scores of other women are on the verge of making the same decision you are considering. Some will come tomorrow. Every day of this sale more have enrolled than we expected. Enrollments tomorrow may close the sale. If so, those who hesitate now will be too late.

OUR ASTROLOGER

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

HOROSCOPE FOR THURSDAY, MARCH 12, 1914.
Shadows on the moon
Foretells trouble soon.

On this day a partial eclipse of the Moon falling in the third decan of Virgo is read as threatening disease, especially to children. Much sickness will prevail in Paris and London, astrologers predict, while epidemics will break out in Turkey, Thessaly and in certain parts of the United States. Enteric fevers will be especially prevalent among women, it is said, while cases of bronchitis and pneumonia will multiply. Planets good and evil contend for dominating influences today. While Mercury and Neptune are in benefic aspect, Venus veers from friendly to adverse aspect, and Jupiter is mildly adverse.

The fickle influence of Venus is held as threatening to all who would deal with women, and love affairs are under a rule which is said to be exceedingly dangerous. The configuration is inimical to actors, singers, poets, artists and theatrical managers. While it prevails the tendency will be to inspire confidence, which will be betrayed.

Jewelers, merchants who sell articles of ornament or women's apparel, gloves, modistes and milliners should be cautious under this astral government. Advertisers, publishers and editors of newspapers should benefit from the stars, which are supposed to stimulate mental activities and give ready recourse to new ideas.

Conditions are favorable for short journeys or for minor changes in the manner of living or in business affairs. Martial influences are revealed in the horoscope of the king of Italy. Mars in opposition to Uranus, is read as indicating trouble for him in May, and an attempt to assassinate him is a probability.

Trouble over postal affairs is predicted. There will be dissatisfaction concerning abuses of the parcel post and great loss through this department, the seers declare.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year of grave responsibilities, as their stars are threatening. Those who are employed should be especially careful. Love affairs may cause heartache.

Children born on this day may be alert in mind, industrious and yet inclined toward wastefulness. Boys may be unfortunate in business and girls may be untidy in dress.

In the afternoon from 4 to 5 a public reception was tendered the visitors at the Georgian Terrace. A large number

LITTLE STORIES FOR BEDTIME

BY THORNTON W. BURGESS.

Jump the Hare, who is Peter Rabbit's big cousin and had come down from the Great Woods of the North to live on the Green Forest, had seen very little of Peter lately because he disliked to leave the Green Forest, and ever since he had seen those strange tracks deep in the Green Forest Peter had kept close to the dear Old Briar Patch. So Jump had not heard Peter's story, which nobody believed and about which everybody teased. For whenever they saw him, One moonlight night Jump took it into his head to visit his cousin and find out why he had been keeping so close to the dear Old Briar Patch.

"First making sure that the way was clear," for Jump is very, very timid, he scampered across to the Old Briar Patch as fast as his long legs could take him and was quite out of breath when he got there. He found Peter sitting under a bramble bush looking quite as miserable as he felt.

"Hello, Cousin Peter! Where have you been keeping yourself lately? I haven't seen you or your tracks in the Green Forest for days and days. Are you sick?" asked Jump.

"No," replied Peter, shortly. "I'm not sick, but I guess I will be if this keeps up much longer." Peter looked very grim and unhappy.

"If what keeps up?" asked Jump, looking very much puzzled.

"Every time I show myself, and nobody to believe what I say," replied Peter. Jump looked more puzzled than ever.

"That's bad, Cousin Peter," said Peter. "It's bad enough to be made fun of. I know all about that. Everybody makes fun of me because I have such long legs and because I am so timid. I've grown used to it now, but still I don't enjoy being laughed at. But it's a whole lot worse not to have people believe what you tell them. I had a whole lot rather have people laugh at me than to say the things they do about Sammy Jay. No one believes him even when he does tell the truth, and that's perfectly dreadful!"

"I know it," said Peter mournfully. "That's the trouble with me now. I've been telling the truth and no one believes it. Now they never will believe anything I say, and they'll think of me just as they do of Sammy Jay, and say the same dreadful things about me."

"You haven't told me," insisted Jump the Hare.

"I—don't want to tell you because probably you won't believe me, either," replied Peter. Now this wasn't quite

HAROLD L. FAY

"I knew you wouldn't believe. Nobody does," said Peter sadly.

At least part wasn't. He did want to tell. He fairly ached to tell. But he was afraid that Jump wouldn't believe his story. But after Jump had solemnly promised that he would believe, no matter how hard it was, Peter told him all about his visit to the deepest part of the Green Forest and about the great big strange tracks he had found there in the snow, tracks as big as Farmer Brown's boy's, only different and showing the marks of great claws.

Jump had picked up his long ears at the mention of those strange tracks, and now he was sitting up very straight and staring at Peter with his eyes very wide open.

"I—I knew you wouldn't believe me. Nobody does," said Peter sadly.

"But I do!" cried Jump. "I've seen tracks just like those lots and lots of times way off in the Great Woods where I came from. I was just surprised that there should be any down here in the Green Forest. Of course, I believe you, Cousin Peter. I think I will go see them for myself. It's a long time since I have seen any."

"Oh, I'm so glad!" cried Peter happily. At last his wish had come true—he had found some one to believe him. He was so happy over it that he quite forgot to ask Jump who could have made the strange tracks.

Club Entertained

The I. K. B. club was entertained Friday evening by Miss Cora Stanford at her home in West End Park. Heart-dice was played and Miss Martha Brown won the first prize. Ices were served during the evening.

MEREDITH INFIRMARY AT SCOTTSVILLE, KY., BURNS

NASHVILLE, Tenn., March 11.—A special from Scottsville, Ky., says that the Meredith infirmary burned there early this morning. Mrs. Meredith, wife of Dr. H. M. Meredith, was the first to discover the fire and managed to reach her husband's room, where she overcame by smoke as she threw open the door and had to be carried out. Charles Duncan, assistant cashier of the Citizens' National bank, escaped by sliding down the portico column. The property loss was $15,000, partly covered by insurance.

Coach Graves Withdraws Resignation at Univ. of Alabama

-BY LEO

LITTLE PAL---WHAT DID HE KNOW ABOUT IT?

Coach Graves To Continue at Univ. of Ala.

Petition Signed by Entire Student Body and Faculty Causes Alabama Coach to Withdraw Resignation—Students Are Well Pleased With His Decision

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.)
TUSCALOOSA, Ala., March 11.—At the urgent request of practically the entire student body and faculty, Coach P. V. Graves at a date hour last night decided to withdraw his resignation and remain here for another year at any rate as professor of physical training and coach of the university athletic teams.

As announced some time ago, Coach Graves tendered his resignation to President Denny, to take effect at the close of the current school year, and until yesterday morning it was generally accepted that Coach Graves was rendering his last services to Alabama. Negotiations had been almost completed for securing another director of athletics Monday morning, however, a petition urging Coach Graves to reconsider his resignation and remain at the university was drawn up and put into the hands of Hargrove Vandegriff, captain of last year's football team, for circulation. Signatures were secured as fast as the petition could be presented, and by night practically every student and member of the faculty had signed.

Last night the men who wear the "A," the symbol of athletic honor, in a body presented the petition to Coach Graves in his room. They supplemented the document with argument, and before they left the coach's quarters they had his favorable decision.

The decision of Graves to remain here for another year, probably longer, is generally regarded as a fortunate thing for university athletics. Since Graves was secured as coach four years ago, the Alabama teams have been uniformly successful. But besides being a good coach, Mr. Graves is a man of fine tact and judgment. He holds the fullest confidence of both student body and faculty.

STRAY SHOTS AT SPORT TARGETS

MACK'S FORESIGHT.
Who is the shrewdest man in baseball today at picking out a promising ball player in the rough? Ask that question of any fan you meet, and possibly four out of every five will slip you the answer that Connie Mack is. Connie can size them hardly before they have shed their swaddling clothes, and tell you with an uncanny precision whether or not they will ever deliver the goods. What is more Connie has made mighty few slips in turning them back, when once he hooks them up. Eliminate the case of Joe Jackson and count the remaining cases. You can do it on the fingers of one hand, and still have more than one digit left.

Also Connie can look a bit into the future and determine pretty well how much longer an old bearing in his machine will wear, and how soon he will find it necessary to replace it. Possibly this is the reason the Athletic squad at Jacksonville includes no less than nine young hurriers who fire from the port side. For the past thirteen years, Eddie Plank has been Colonel Mack's chief asset in the way of an off-throw pitcher. The Gettysburg marvel has been moving calmly along doing his full share of the labor involved in landing five pennants for the Quaker City, and Mack has not worried much over the final disposition of the annual crop of southpaws.

PLANK CAN'T STICK ALWAYS.
But Connie has learned the story of the pitcher which made the trip once too often, and he has also appraised fully the virtue of the advice that youth must be served. And Connie is not alone. Plank himself realizes that steady performer that he has been, he can't keep on going for all time. A short time since it was reported that Eddie was holding out on Mack. If the truth were known, we would wager a small sum that Eddie was insisting that he was due for a permanent retirement, rather than holding off for more money.

So Mack has corralled no less than nine young left-hand pitchers. From these he hopes to pick up one, who can assume Plank's burden when it gets too heavy. Possibly that time will not come suddenly during the approaching season. But it is sure to come before very much longer, and Connie the Wise, wants to be fixed when it does arrive. He will be a lucky man if he lands another Eddie Plank.

THAT NEW INFELD.
Billy Smith is developing a brand new organization among the Crackers. This organization he is pleased to call his "Four o'Clock infield." As lined up Monday, it consisted of "Stuffy McInnis" Nixon at first; "Eddie Collins" Long at second; "Honus Wagner" Welchance at short, and "Heinie Zim" Kircher at third. So far Bill has not divulged the reason for the title. Welchance says the other infielders are getting uneasy already.

Miller Huggins, of the Cardinals, is traveling pretty much in the path of Charlie Dooin, when it comes to misfortune in his ranks. George Suggs jumped to the Federals; Arnold Hauser is in a sanitarium, and now Rebel Oakes has hopped to the outlaws. It's a dull day that doesn't add some hard luck to the rabbit's harrowed existence.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.
The St. Louis Browns have just won a series of games from the Chicago Cubs, which fact may be cited in support of either of the following:

The old Cubs' schooner is on the rocks.
Branch Rickey's theories of running a ball club are panning out nicely.

Winning ball games in March is quite a different proposition from entering them on the right side of the ledger in August.

The Browns are in for another bum season. Winning ball games at this time of the year is an awful jinx.

Pitcher Jim Bagby of the Pelicans is ambidexterous, which means to say that he fires from either the starboard or port side. Wonder whether it has ever occurred to Clark Griffith just what it would mean if Walter Johnson was constructed along similar specifications.

Down in St. Petersburg, Fla., old Bobbie Wallace is taking a real interest in teaching Rickey's rookie a few of the finer points of the game, a thing which he has never done before. Possibly Bobby is now ready to quit, and would select a fit successor to himself. Wallace is another of the battered old hulks that critics have been counting out for years, but who refuses to take the count.

SLIGHT DIFFERENCE.
Minor Brown says he has collected a formidable major league hurling staff in himself, Bob Groom, Edgar Willets, and Otis Crandall, while four major league managers aver that they have gotten shied of four bits of worn-out bric-a-brac. These views, however, may be entirely reconciled on the theory of "every man to his own taste."

Incidentally Hal Chase, Christy Mathewson, Tris Speaker and Joe Jackson barely missed being thrown into the discards since last season closed. Ty Cobb was already under contract, so he will retain his effectiveness for the time being.

Swede Wrestler Threw Liebler

NEW YORK, March 11.—The second series of international wrestling bouts to select a challenger to meet Frank Gotch for the championship title was held at Madison Square Garden last night. The principal match was between Viadek Zhyazko, of Poland, and Tom Jenkins, of America, instructor of wrestling at the military academy at West Point. Zhyazko threw Jenkins in 27 minutes, 32 seconds. Jenkins' shoulder was wrenched and a physician was called to attend him.

Mjalmar Lundin, of Sweden, threw Hans Liebler, of Germany, in 17 minutes, 45 seconds.

In a special match, two out of three falls, Alexander Aberg, of Finland, threw Ivan Manufoff, of Russia, twice in succession, gaining the first fall in 19 minutes, 22 seconds and the second in 19 minutes and 21 seconds.

All bouts were at catch-as-catch-can style.

Memphis Fans Uneasy Over Finn's Entries

Bluff City Enthusiasts Figure That the Celt Will Make Many Changes Before June 1—One Bug Selects Crackers to Repeat on Last Year's Performance

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 11.—With the arrival on Sunday night of Catcher Wade Reynolds, the Greensboro, Ga., South Atlantic leaguer and Manager Finn, things baseball assumed proportions of interest in Memphis. The Turtles, thirty-eight strong, reported to Manager Finn at Red Elm park Tuesday, March 10. It is expected that by the end of the week all of the prospective players will have reported.

The consensus of opinion among Memphis experts, based on dope and past acquaintance with the new men, is that Finn has not corralled a bunch likely to make it warm for other southern league teams. It is believed here that many changes will be made before the first of June. Only five of last year's men return, but the new players secured are without exception new and untried material. Merritt, Pop Shanley, shortstop; Jack Love, infielder; Glen Liebhardt, pitcher; and Mike Harrell, pitcher, all of whom were Memphis uniforms in 1913, will return. Two ex-major league leaguers have been signed for the coming year. They are Benis, the former Cleveland catcher, who replaces Doc Seabough, and Steele, former Cardinal pitcher. Eighteen pitchers will be given try-outs. The most promising of these are Lefty Merritt, the Appalachian league phenom who received a short trial with the Giants, and Smith, another left-hander, who pitched in the Central league last year. This is Smith's second year in organized ball.

Duncell, Virginia leaguer, probably will replace Abstein at first. Mullen, of the New York State league, will replace Butler at second. Harry Shanley, of last year's team and Dolly Stark, several years ago with Little Rock in the Southern, will fight it out for short field. Red McDermott, former Providence, R. I., third baseman, is the only candidate for third. For the outfield, Finn has Jack Love, who alternated at center and second with last year's Turtles; Seneff, Goulait, Duggan and Smith, all minor leaguers with the exception of Goulait, who played with Indianapolis a season or so ago.

First ante-season predictions made appearance here Saturday when a local tobaccoist posted the following as a guess for the 1914 pennant race:

Atlanta.
Chattanooga.
New Orleans.
Nashville.
Birmingham.
Memphis.
Montgomery.
Mobile.

He refused to make explanations but his guess is not regarded as expert opinion. Local fans, however, do believe in Billy Smith and have faith in the bunch that Moose McCormick has gathered at Chattanooga.

Williams Is First Gull to Report

MOBILE, Ala., March 11.—Pitcher Ole Williams, formerly with Jackson, Miss., Cotton States leaguer, arrived today making the first and only Gull of the 1914 season to report here. Others are expected tomorrow and Thursday.

CRACKERS PLAY PRACTICE GAME WED. AFTERNOON

After a good long season of waiting, interspersed now and then with a bit of real news about what was going to happen, and what had really happened, in council chambers, and otherwise, Atlanta fans are at last offered their first chance of the season of seeing the real dyed-in-the-wool, blown-in-the-bottle article over which thousands rave, grow frantic, and then settle down to a blissful calm—provided the home team wins. You should guess the first time just what it is—a game, to be sure, or at any rate it will be a very good imitation of a game.

Yes, Wednesday afternoon Manager Billy Smith puts on the first exhibition of the year, whereby nine athletes, however nondescript may be their appearance, stack up against nine others, even more of what the above were called, if possible. All of which means to say that a practice game of some five or six innings is staged to be pulled off at Ponce de Leon Wednesday afternoon.

Bill has not yet announced the members of the battling forces. In fact, it is entirely possible that labels for the two gangs will be picked up off-hand. Maybe it will be "Dutch" Munch's Hopefuls against Ham Reynolds' Strugglers or something of the kind, seeing that it is sure that "Dutch" will be lined up with one bunch, while Ham, of necessity will cast his lot with the opposing crew. Thus far the misfortune of being the umpire has not been thrust on any one, and the situation is a puzzler, unless Manager Bill comes to rescue by assuming the risk himself. But umpire or no, there is going to be a game, and every bug, who can muster up an excuse to duck out of the office for an hour or two is expected to be on hand.

Also Manager Smith has announced that the team will play a practice exhibition with the Baptist Tabernacle team Saturday afternoon. This game will be staged at 2 o'clock, and is carded to go the full nine innings, unless darkness of some unforeseen cause intervenes to cut it short. By that time, practically every man on whom Bill is counting will be on hand, and a first chance to give the crew the "once over" will be afforded.

McMahon Meets Gwinner Heads Nelson Tonight Pittsburg Feds

What should be one of the best scraps of the season is to be staged at the Columbia theater tonight, when Terry Nelson, the rugged Greek lightweight from Chattanooga, tackles Jack McMahon in a scheduled ten-round bout.

As the winner of this match will be in line for a crack at either Frank Whittingy or Jake Abel, the boys can be counted on to try hard for victory. Both boys have fought some of the best boys in the game and the scrap should be a corker.

The two other bouts on the program should also be hot battles. Kid Brown, the hard-hitting bantam, is billed to fight Young Goldman, and the winner of this go will meet "Spider" Britz next week.

The opening go of the night will be a four-round affair between Battling Robinson and some other good boy of his weight. Kid Duke was scheduled to meet Robinson, but took sick last night, so that some other boy will be substituted.

Federals Plans Minor Leagues

NEW YORK, March 11.—Reports that Federal league officials were working on a plan to organize two minor leagues to provide berths for players cast off by the parent organization, were confirmed today by John M. Ward, business manager of the Brooklyn Federal league club.

While in the south, President Gilmore, it is said, will keep in close touch with quarters of National and American league clubs, and will drop for all young players who are dropped at the close of the training season.

The best of these men, it is planned, will be used in filling gaps in Federal league clubs, while the others will be apportioned to teams in the proposed minor circuits.

Record Broken At Pinehurst

Miss Ravenscraft and P. W. Whittemore Hang Up Record of 82 in Mixed Four-some—Former Mark Was 86

PINEHURST, N. C., March 11.—Miss Gladys Ravenscraft, of England, present title holder of the American women's golf championship, playing with P. W. Whittemore, of Brookline, here Tuesday broke the Pinehurst course mixed foursome record. Their score was 82, with a 48 going out and 44 returning. The former record was 86, held jointly by several pairs. Brilliant play attended the invitation mixed-foursome tournament today. The best tournament score was made by Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Thompson, Springfield, who turned in a card of 84, their handicap being 20. Miss Ravenscraft and Mr. Whittemore were next, their handicap of plus 3 making their net score 85. Several other pairs divided second honors with them.

Shafer Quits Game

SAN JOSE, Cal., March 11.—Arthur Shafer, third baseman of the New York Nationals, announced yesterday that he had quit professional baseball. He said he was tired of the constant strain of a long pennant race and was going into business with his father at Los Angeles.

When the meeting was held to decide which teams would play first, Denald Fraser drew a blank and will play the winner of the above game on the following Monday.

President Gilmore Says Federal League Rosters Are Complete

DAY BY DAY WITH THE DEYS

---BY CLARE VICTOR DWIGGINS

Federals Are Well Pleased With Line-Ups

President Gilmore States That Buffalo and Brooklyn Might Use Two More Good Players Each—Claims That 52 Members of Organized Ball Want Jobs With His League

SHREVEPORT, La., March 11.—President James A. Gilmore, of the Federal League, who is in Shreveport with the Chicago team of that league, refused last night to either affirm or deny reports that he was negotiating with Joe Wood, Ray Collins, Larry Gardner and Heinie Wagner, of the Boston American league team. That telegrams had been received from "certain players" was as far as the league president would go in his reply to the question. Gilmore also declared tonight that, with the exception of the Buffalo and Brooklyn clubs, "which might use two more good players each," the rosters of the Federal league clubs were now practically complete. In addition to those already signed fifty-two players, now in organized baseball, have offered their services to the new league, according to Gilmore.

Gilmore will leave Thursday for Chicago. Charles Weeghman, president of the Chicago club, will leave Saturday but expects to return before the end of the training season.

Manager Tinker today expressed satisfaction with the first day's practice of his team.

Woman Defends Sunday Baseball

BOSTON, Mass., March 11.—"I can preach a sermon equal to any that can be delivered by all these ministers in this room who are opposed to Sunday baseball, and I am as good a Christian as any of them are, and I believe that baseball should be played on Sunday," declared Mrs. Etta Willard, a prominent member of the Third Universalist church of Cambridge, before the committee on legal affairs, which held a hearing recently on Sunday baseball.

"I will go to a ball game on the Sabbath after attending my church services," she says, "when it is legalized in Massachusetts. And it's coming fast, too," she added.

"How much better it is to see the boys and youths of our cities out on any public playgrounds in the parks and in the fields, enjoying a clean, red-blooded healthy sport than it is to find the same boys playing cards or dice or in a back room saloon on a Sunday afternoon. We are dealing with conditions, not theories, and it is a matter of public expediency to substitute an outdoor health-giving recreation for gambling, drinking and other forms of viciousness."

Eastman Players Sign in Sally League

EASTMAN, Ga., March 11.—Eastman has furnished three players to the South Atlantic league, two of whom will play with Albany and the third with Macon. Henry Skelton and Zeb Hargrove have signed up with Albany. Skelton is pitcher and Hargrove is second base. J. B. Vaughn has signed up with Macon to pitch. These men made quite a record last season on the local team. Skelton as a pitcher and Hargrove as a second baseman. Vaughn played in the Empire State league last season with Valdesia.

Arranged Big Banquet For Charles Comiskey

CHICAGO, March 11.—More than a thousand Chicagoans have made arrangements to attend the banquet which will be given tonight in honor of Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the White Sox, and the members of the team who returned home yesterday from their tour of the world with the New York Giants. Although tired from the long trip and still feeling the effects of the sickness which attacked him while in Rome, President Comiskey promised today to attend the banquet and deliver a short address.

Thirteen Balloons in International Race

NEW YORK, March 11.—Thirteen balloons will race from Kansas City on October 6, next, for the Coupe International Des Aeronautes, counting an additional fifty just received by the club of America from Belgium. The challengers for the international trophy are France and Germany with three balloons each and Belgium and Austria with two each. America will defend with three balloons—the full number permitted under the rules of the contest.

THE SPORTLIGHT BY GRANTLAND RICE

Now that the commotion has settled and the world-tourists have become accustomed to U. S. soil, and the ultimate position of the Unsigned Five has been fairly well established, it might be well enough to take up two incidents of the trip that have been almost overlooked. These two incidents concern the best individual play of the 32,000-mile tour, and the best all-round ball games staged between here and Yokohama, and vice versa.

STAGED IN LONDON. We selected Steve Evans as our official scorer of these incidents, and Steve had the dope upon the tip of his well-known tongue. "There's nothing to it," remarked Steve. "Not a thing." The best play of the trip was launched by Fred Merkle, in London, and the best game was staged at the same place. "In the London game with the bases full and only one out Merkle made a play that I never saw before in baseball. Buck Weaver dumped a slow one down almost through the pitcher's box, dived for the ball with one paw and made the play to the plate with both feet off the ground. He made a perfect peg and got his man when I never thought he had a chance to even make it close. 'My word,' out in a monocoed gent near the bench; 'devilish extraordinary and quite ripping that. What a bally rounder player he would make? Fanny.'"

THE BEST GAME. "The best game," continued Steve, "was also staged in London. That game had everything in it that an exciting game should carry. It wasn't perfect, but it was loaded down with the old thrill stuff. You could have lifted rays extracts from the fifty best cricket games ever played without touching that one ball game. Just figure out a battle nip and tuck all the way to a tie through the innings, and then two home runs staged in the tenth, and eleven. It was loaded down with wonderful stops, impossible catches, hard hitting, a couple of bad misplays, a bone or two and the rest of it. Yet one scribe came out and said the play was too machine-like, with too little action."

THE FEDERAL STATUS. Any claim that the Feds will jump full-fledged into any major league stride is nothing short of foolish. Undoubtedly they are paying major league prices in several major league cities, and they have quite a number of major league ball players. But it will take some time to build the league up to an average standing. And it will take longer than any one or two years to reach this point. As things are now, we doubt seriously if there is a Fed club with as many good ball players as even the Cardinals carry—the list includes such people as Lee, Magee, Wingo, Huggins, Miller, Wilson, Evans Robinson, Griner and a number of others. Yet the esteemed Cardinals just at present are not being extensively picked as any National league pennant winners. Not by very many, anyway.

THE BLUE BADGE OF CAUTION. We have never charged that Willie Ritchie was shy the red badge of courage, but neither can Willie be accused of being detached from the blue badge of caution.

We have maintained all along that Willie has made up his mind to take no chances of being displaced before the big fair next year. A light-weight champ plus a native son in California through 1915 will have a gold mine at his feet, with no work left except to hoist the nuggets with a ladle. Willie knows this as well as any one else. We have heard him mention the incident, in fact. And knowing this Willie, as suggested above, has no idea of absorbing any unnecessary risk until the swag is properly apportioned.

The good old days apparently are gone forever. The training season is now two weeks along and we have lamped "tall and rangy guy" in print only thirteen times. The average used to be seventeen a day.

To Ring W. Lardner—A big league yarn put over in a big league way. Congratulations, and thanks for the thirty minutes of loud and continuous laughter.

If you desire—and perhaps you don't—to attach the goat of any of the returned world tourists, hand him the English slogan and suggest that the game he is playing is fighting but "glorified rounders." That was the shot that landed with a noisy thud seven inches under the belt.

Some one was kidding Joe Tinker over having eight or ten players on his payroll who had never been heard of before.

"Sure," remarked Joseph, "but then no one had ever heard of Walter Johnson until he stepped out one afternoon and shut Detroit out."

Considerable rebuttal—except for the fact that all this happened six years ago and no other Johnson has stepped out since. Nor will again very soon.

According to Fred Merkle, the pyramids comprised one of the best sets of bunkers he ever saw. Nothing but a perfectly played niblick shot could carry any of these, in his opinion.

If Prexy Wilson decides to ask waivers upon W. J. Bryan the process will be a mere formality. The remainder of the nation is willing to make it unanimous.

If a Federal leaguer is released there will be no other job open to him. The same thing will happen to W. J. B.

WORRIES OF BASEBALL TOO MUCH FOR ARTHUR SHAFER

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Cal., March 11.—"While playing with the Giants in New York I aged ten years and my hair is turning gray," said "Art" Shafer today, discussing the strain of the baseball season. "Nothing would induce me to return to the game and that is what I wired McGraw today in reply to a telegram asking if my decision to quit was final."

Announcements of his retirement have been made so often by Shafer in recent years that they have become almost jokes. But this time he insists that he will play no more. His loss will cripple the chances of the Giants to a considerable extent, especially because Manager McGraw has allowed Herzog to go to the Cincinnati club.

It is probable that Milton Stock, who played with the Mobile club in the Southern league last season, will get the most thorough trial for the position vacated by Shafer.

DeOro Has Big Lead In Billiard Match

NEW YORK, March 11.—Alfred De Oro, of Cuba, three-cushion billiard champion, last night took a commanding lead in the first block of fifty points of a three nights' match with Fred Ames, of Denver. De Oro ran out in 32 innings while Ames scored 29 points. The champion made a run of six and the challenger's best was four.

Poggenburg Won From Milburn

Holder of Amateur Billiard Championship Beats Memphis Player in Tournament

NEW YORK, March 11.—J. Ferdinand Poggenburg, holder of the international amateur billiard championship title, won the second game of the annual amateur national 18.2 ball line tournament here Tuesday. His opponent, Eugene L. Milburn, of Memphis, Tenn., made his first appearance in the class A ranks for national honors, and from the twelfth inning until near the end of the game held a commanding lead of more than a hundred points, which he obtained largely through a fine run of fifty-six, the best of the tournament so far. Milburn's play mostly was of the open order and his weakest attempts were when he had to resort to long shots.

Poggenburg could not get the ivories under control at first, reaching double figures in only three innings. The score stood 320 to 205 against him at the end of thirty-five innings, but afterwards he showed flashes of championship cue work, including runs of forty-six to thirty-seven, which enabled him to win 400 to 260 in his forty-ninth inning. Scores: Poggenburg, 400; average, 88-49; high runs, 48, 38, 37. Milburn, 270; average, 7-24-48; high runs, 56, 41, 28.

Edward W. Gardner, of this city, defeated Morris D. Brown, Brooklyn, 400 to 367 last night. The contestants, both former national titleholders, played a slow, studious game. Gardner ran out in the forty-fourth inning. Score: Gardner, 400; average, 9-4-44; high runs, 42, 38, 36. Brown, 357; average, 8-5-44; high runs, 51, 30, 28.

Joseph Mayer, of New York, will meet Charles Haddon, of Dewagiac, Mich., today, and Dr. W. E. Uffenheimer, of Philadelphia, will play Eugene L. Milburn, of Memphis, Tenn.

Tough Battle For Kid Young

Meets Knockout Egger's Thursday Night at the Georgia Athletic Club on James St.

The match between Kid Young, the local newsboy battler, and Knockout Eggers, of New York, which will be held Thursday night will take place at the Georgia Athletic club, 36 James street, instead of at the Orpheum theater as was announced, in error, on these pages Tuesday. In addition to this bout, Spider Britt will meet Meyer Pries in an eight-round match, while Kid York will box six rounds with Kid Henry. There will also be a four-round preliminary in boxing Eggers. Kid Young is tackling the toughest assignment he has been asked to handle to date. Eggers is a tough boy with lots of experience in the ring. Monday night he lost by a very narrow margin to Kid Herman in New Orleans. Herman is being groomed for a match with Johnny Coulon or Kid Williams, and will doubtless meet one of these two boys within the next two months. This shows just how much New Orleans fans and promoters think of Herman. If Eggers gets practically a draw with Herman, it is no difficult matter to figure just what sort of a task Young has on hand in meeting the New Yorker.

Reserved seats for Thursday night's battle have been placed out today, and may be obtained at the box office of the club. Lou Castro has been selected to handle the bouts.

Athletics Won From Jacksonville

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., March 11.—The world's champion Athletics defeated the Jacksonville club here Tuesday in a slugging match. Both teams hit the ball hard and often and Joe Bush, of the Philadelphia team, was the only pitcher who showed any effectiveness, the locals only being able to score one run off his delivery. Score: R. H. E. Philadelphia 12 14 2

Batteries: Bush, Brown, Pennock and Schang, Lapp, Pierson, Woods and Cuto.

Ed Lafitte Is In Atlanta for A Short Visit

Local Boy Who Recently Signed With Brooklyn Federal League Club Reached City Tuesday—Is Confident That New eLeague Will Prove a Success

Ed Lafitte, the only local ball player who has yet cast his lot with the Federal league, arrived in Atlanta on Tuesday afternoon for a visit to relatives, and also to attend the mid-winter clinic of the Atlanta Dental society, of which he is a member. Lafitte has been spending the winter in Boston, and it was there that he completed negotiations whereby he became a member of the Brooklyn club of the new league. In discussing his decision to join the new organization, he stated that he felt little doubt as to the success of the venture. He has investigated the new proposition thoroughly, and is firmly convinced that the men back of the move have plenty of money, and know full well just what they are doing. "Any way," he remarked, "if the league should fail to go through with its plans, I can quit the game, and take up the practice of dentistry. Looks like it will take something on that order to get me out of baseball, and from a personal standpoint, I don't know but what it would prove a good thing for me if the league should blow, but I am fully satisfied that such is not going to be the case."

On his arrival in Atlanta Ed found several telegrams awaiting him from the Providence club of the International league, to which he belonged, as well as from Rochester. The former offered to sell his contract to the latter, if he would play there. He has replied to these, however, that he is already under contract to the Federal league, and that such negotiations are late by several days. He is far from pleased with the treatment he has received from Providence in more than one instance, and admits that if the above offer had been received earlier, he might have consented to such a deal.

"AWAY ABOVE EVERYTHING"

The $30,000 Battery

WHEN Barney Dreyfus gave $22,500 to the St. Paul Club of the American Association for the release of pitcher Marty J. O'Toole, the Pittsburgh National Leaguers put up a new high mark in baseball finance. To this sum, $7,500 was added and O'Toole's battery partner—William Kelly—was also secured, giving the Pirates the highest-priced battery in the world.

FOR SALE—

POULTRY, PIGEONS AND LIVE STOCK

The Present Price of Fowls and Eggs, and the Opportunity Offered for a Packing Plant in Georgia.

EVERY year during two or three months of spring eggs usually drop to a low price, and the market is flooded. This thing never fails to come around every year. People who are so situated that they can buy these eggs and put them in storage or keep them in cool places cannot help but always make a big per cent of profit out of them. During the next two months when eggs are plentiful it will pay far better for you to pack them in salt, put them up in water glass, or test them carefully, put in cases and stored in a cool place, turning the cases once a week, or put them in cold storage and keep them until late summer or early fall. I have never seen time during the past fifteen years that eggs were not scarce and high during August and September and on through the winter months, and if eggs are kept from now on you can easily get one-third to twice as much more money for them in six months from now as you can at the present time.

A good packing plant in Atlanta that could store any quantity of eggs I am confident would be profitable, and it has been a surprise to me why some one has not erected a plant of this kind in Atlanta. There are now enough eggs shipped to Atlanta and produced in this section of country to warrant and support a plant of this kind, and I am confident could be made profitable. At present the price of eggs in the east is still high and more than twice as much as we are getting for them here. A packing plant in Atlanta could easily at this season of the year ship a car of eggs a day to the eastern markets. It would not only create and make a market for our eggs here, but they could get nearly double the price for these eggs that are usually plentiful during the early spring months of the year, and enable someone to make a handsome per cent that we need and give the people in the east something they are begging for and need badly. Thousands of people in New York and other eastern cities are gladly paying 50c per dozen now for fresh eggs, when many country stores and people throughout Georgia are begging for buyers at 25c per dozen. This low price is only temporary and will only last a short time. But, it comes every year, and by a person being prepared to take care of this surplus of eggs every spring and ship them to a market that wants them would make money for both parties concerned.

I hope the day will come when some business man or concern can see this opportunity in Atlanta to such an extent that they will take hold of it. Dressed poultry is bringing from 16c to 20c per pound in Atlanta, and there is a good demand for it. Even at this price it is the cheapest meat that is on the market. If a good packing plant could be established in Atlanta for poultry and eggs it would only be a short time but what they could build up a business that would run into millions of dollars per year.

There are enough poultry and eggs and enough country merchants throughout the south now handling these products to easily warrant some company establishing a poultry packing plant in Atlanta. It would easily pay far greater dividends than many other lines of industry that now have immense amounts of money locked up in that are paying only a small dividend to their stockholders. This is one of the things that will never be overdone. It will provide something that the people are compelled to have. The convenience of shipping to both Florida and eastern markets from Atlanta is something that many sections do not have an opportunity in this respect. I hope before another year passes some one will see and take advantage of this great opportunity and erect in Atlanta a packing plant that will be a credit to Georgia.

Yours very truly,

Living Boring

QUESTIONS ASKED AND ANSWERED.

QUESTION.
Stanton, Fla.
Will you please tell me through The Journal what is wrong with one of my hens? Her vent is sore, something like the yellow of an egg around it, but it is not a yellow. I wash it off it bleeds and has been that way for six weeks. I wash it with weak carbolic acid water and use ointments but it will not get any better. It smells bad. She eats hearty and is laying but I don't use the eggs. She is healthy. Must I kill her, or will my other hens get it? I feed oats and give fresh water twice a day. They have a free range.

With many thanks, I am,
A SUBSCRIBER TO THE ATLANTA JOURNAL.
ANSWER.
The trouble with your hen is a disease known as "vent sore." It is a disease that is almost incurable and is not worth trying to cure. Even though the bird is very valuable there is too much risk to run in attempting to cure it. It is best to kill the bird and to keep a bird in the flock and try to cure it. The best thing to do is to kill and burn the hen, and take no chances.

The Real Estate Field

Agent Suggests That Property Owners Put a Fresh Coat of Paint on Their Buildings for Shriners' Convention—Money Offered More Freely—Fine Report of Bradstreet's on Condition of Farm Land—Farm Sale Reported

A real estate agent has suggested to the Atlanta real estate community that property owners of Atlanta put a fresh coat of paint on their buildings in honor of the Shriners' convention which will soon be held here.

Such a departure, he points out, would make a favorable impression on thousands of visitors from all over the country, and the cost to each owner would be small, in comparison with the benefit to his property.

The transformation would be a permanent one and would be to the owner's personal interest as well as for the common good.

This proposal was acted on, Atlanta would appear as a new city. The idea is certainly worth consideration.

Money More Plentiful. Money is being offered more freely for real estate loans just now than for a long time. Lenders are advertising for borrowers, and the offerings are for loans on general property, residence as well as close-in.

There was a time recently when people with money held out to be lent in the hope of catching bargains or in getting a higher and higher interest rate, but bargains have not been plentiful, so little money was forced to seek some sort of return.

Consequently people with cash in bank are looking around for real estate mortgages, which bring a good return with the minimum of safety.

FARMING IMPROVEMENT. That was an encouraging report which J. E. C. Pedder, superintendent of Bradstreet's, made on the state of crop preparation in Georgia. He declared that the land itself was in better shape just now to receive seed than for years past.

In February there was a stretch of mild, open weather, which enabled the farmers to plow the ground thoroughly. This was followed by frosts and snow, so the soft earth was thoroughly pulverized and soaked, and insect pests were killed.

The cold weather the latter part of February and the first of March held back the fruit trees and prevented premature blooming. This will result in a large crop, which brings something like $2,000,000 to Georgia in an average yield of season.

Good crops have a direct effect on real estate, and another fine yield, following that of 1913 will put the state on the best basis financially that it has had in many years.

FARM SALE. E. L. Harting has sold for Mrs. Florence Daniel to a customer a farm comprising 275 acres of land in Greene county for $6,000. This farm is situated between Union point and Daniel Springs.

And This in Missouri! (Washington Herald.) And now a man who devoted to embroidery and crocheting and to wearing kimono, has sued for $1,500 damages for defamation of character against a farmer who called him a woman. Only half his suit has been decided. He certainly must be a soft souled fellow, and our only hope is that women will get the vote in Missouri before his case is finally disposed of.

from twelfth position to first, leading the organization, class of the Universalist church, which furnishes another surprise, this organization going from seventh position to second.

The third surprise of the day is the Mission Circle of the Universalist church. This organization only entered the contest within the past week and is now in the three million class. Shows conclusively what a little hustle and get-there can do.

F. R. Cline voted just heavy enough to regain the lead in the retail class, nevertheless Paul Morris is crowding the gentleman enough to make it uncomfortable.

The real dyed-in-the-wool energy is to be found in the children's class. Slowly and perseveringly, John R. Wilkerson, Baptist, has tried faithfully to lead the children's class for the past six weeks and he was some happy youngster when informed by the contest department that he was leading today.

OLD MAN IS INJURED BY AN AUTOMOBILE

Nathan Respass Badly Hurt but Driver of Car Hurries Away From Scene

While crossing the street at Forsyth and Hunter Wednesday afternoon, Nathan Respass, sixty-three years old, of 129 Chappell street, was struck by an automobile, driven by an unknown man, knocked down and painfully injured.

His right wrist was broken and he was bruised about the head and face.

Policeman S. J. Roberts called an ambulance and sent the injured man to Grady hospital.

According to the police, the man who drove his car into Respass did not even stop his machine to ascertain whether he was hurt.

Many Relics From Lincoln Log Cabin Are Sold at Auction

(By Associated Press.) NEW YORK, March 11.—A blue ironstone china plate used by Abraham Lincoln in his home in Springfield, Ill., in 1837, brought $125.50 last night at the Norton antique lamp sale.

The martyred president's law office lamp sold for $175, and an old chair used by him brought the same price.

These four Lincoln relics were taken by Dr. C. A. Quincy Norton, with other relics from the Lincoln Log Cabin, which was exhibited in New York in 1866, in lieu of fees which were to have been paid him for lecturing at the cabin.

One of these which sold for $66 was a pair of brass mantel lamps, a wedding present to John Hancock on his marriage to Dorothy Quincy by the father of the bride. A lamp used by Harriet Beecher Stowe in writing "Uncle Tom's Cabin," presented to Dr. Norton by Dr. C. E. Stowe, her husband, sold for $71.

A beautiful old brass, marine candlestick, captured by the U. S. S. Constitution from the British ship "Guerrilla" in the war of 1812 went for $36. A china candlestick from the Confederate "white house" in 1863 went to a Milwaukee museum for $8.

One Fight With Snake Among Items on Bill Of Dalton Electrician

DALTON, Ga., March 11.—The originality of a local electrician in itemizing a bill for 75 cents caused him to receive his pay for small jobs of work done for a well known citizen of Dalton. The job was beneath the floor of the patron's residence, and as it was quickly finished, the patron thought the 75-cent charge excessive, and called for an itemized statement. He changed his mind and paid the bill when he received the following:

To laundry on one shirt.....10
To one shampoo.....25
To one fight with chicken.....12-1-2
To finding and removing dead rabbit.....07-1-2
To annunciator wire.....20-00

Total.....75
A chicken snake crawled up while I was at work, and I had to fight him off.

Stutterers Are Being Cured in Paris With The Help of "Movies"

(By Associated Press.) PARIS, March 11.—A new method of curing stuttering by means of the cinematograph was described to the Academy of Science yesterday. Dr. Marce, who devised it, has found that stutterers can be rapidly cured if their mouthpiece of words is shown to them on the film. He takes a moving picture of a stutterer and a normal person sitting side by side and pronouncing the same sentence. This film serves as a model for a course of practice which leads to a cure.

Ten Thousand English Ants Arrive in Phila. Puzzle Custom's Men

(By Associated Press.) PHILADELPHIA, March 11.—Customs officials here were puzzled yesterday to determine how to classify a colony of 10,000 ants which arrived yesterday from London. They are consigned to L. E. Wells, a student of natural history at Danville, Pa., and custom inspectors said it was the first importation of ants ever received at this port. It was finally decided to classify them as a "not especially enumerated object" and a duty of 10 per cent ad valorem was imposed. The insects will be used for educational purposes.

Boy Kills Himself in Schoolroom While Playing With Pistol

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) BAXLEY, Ga., March 11.—Pomeroy Tomblin, thirteen years old, while stooping underneath his desk in the school room near Surrency, this county, yesterday to examine a revolver that had been smuggled in by a playmate, accidentally shot and killed himself. He was the son of a farmer near Surrency.

VERY GREEN, BUT NOT UNRIPE, WIG ARRIVES

The colored wig is here. It is green, pea green, and about the greenest pea green that has ever been seen, which is not intended to rhyme at all but simply to explain the exact shade of green.

Busy, bustling, crowded Whitehall street, saw it Wednesday morning and fashionable Peachtree had its look in the afternoon.

The latest of ultra fashionable creation was worn by Miss Ada Bannon, leading woman in the company now playing at the Columbia burlesque theater.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR CONSTIPATED CHILD

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm stomach, liver and bowels

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

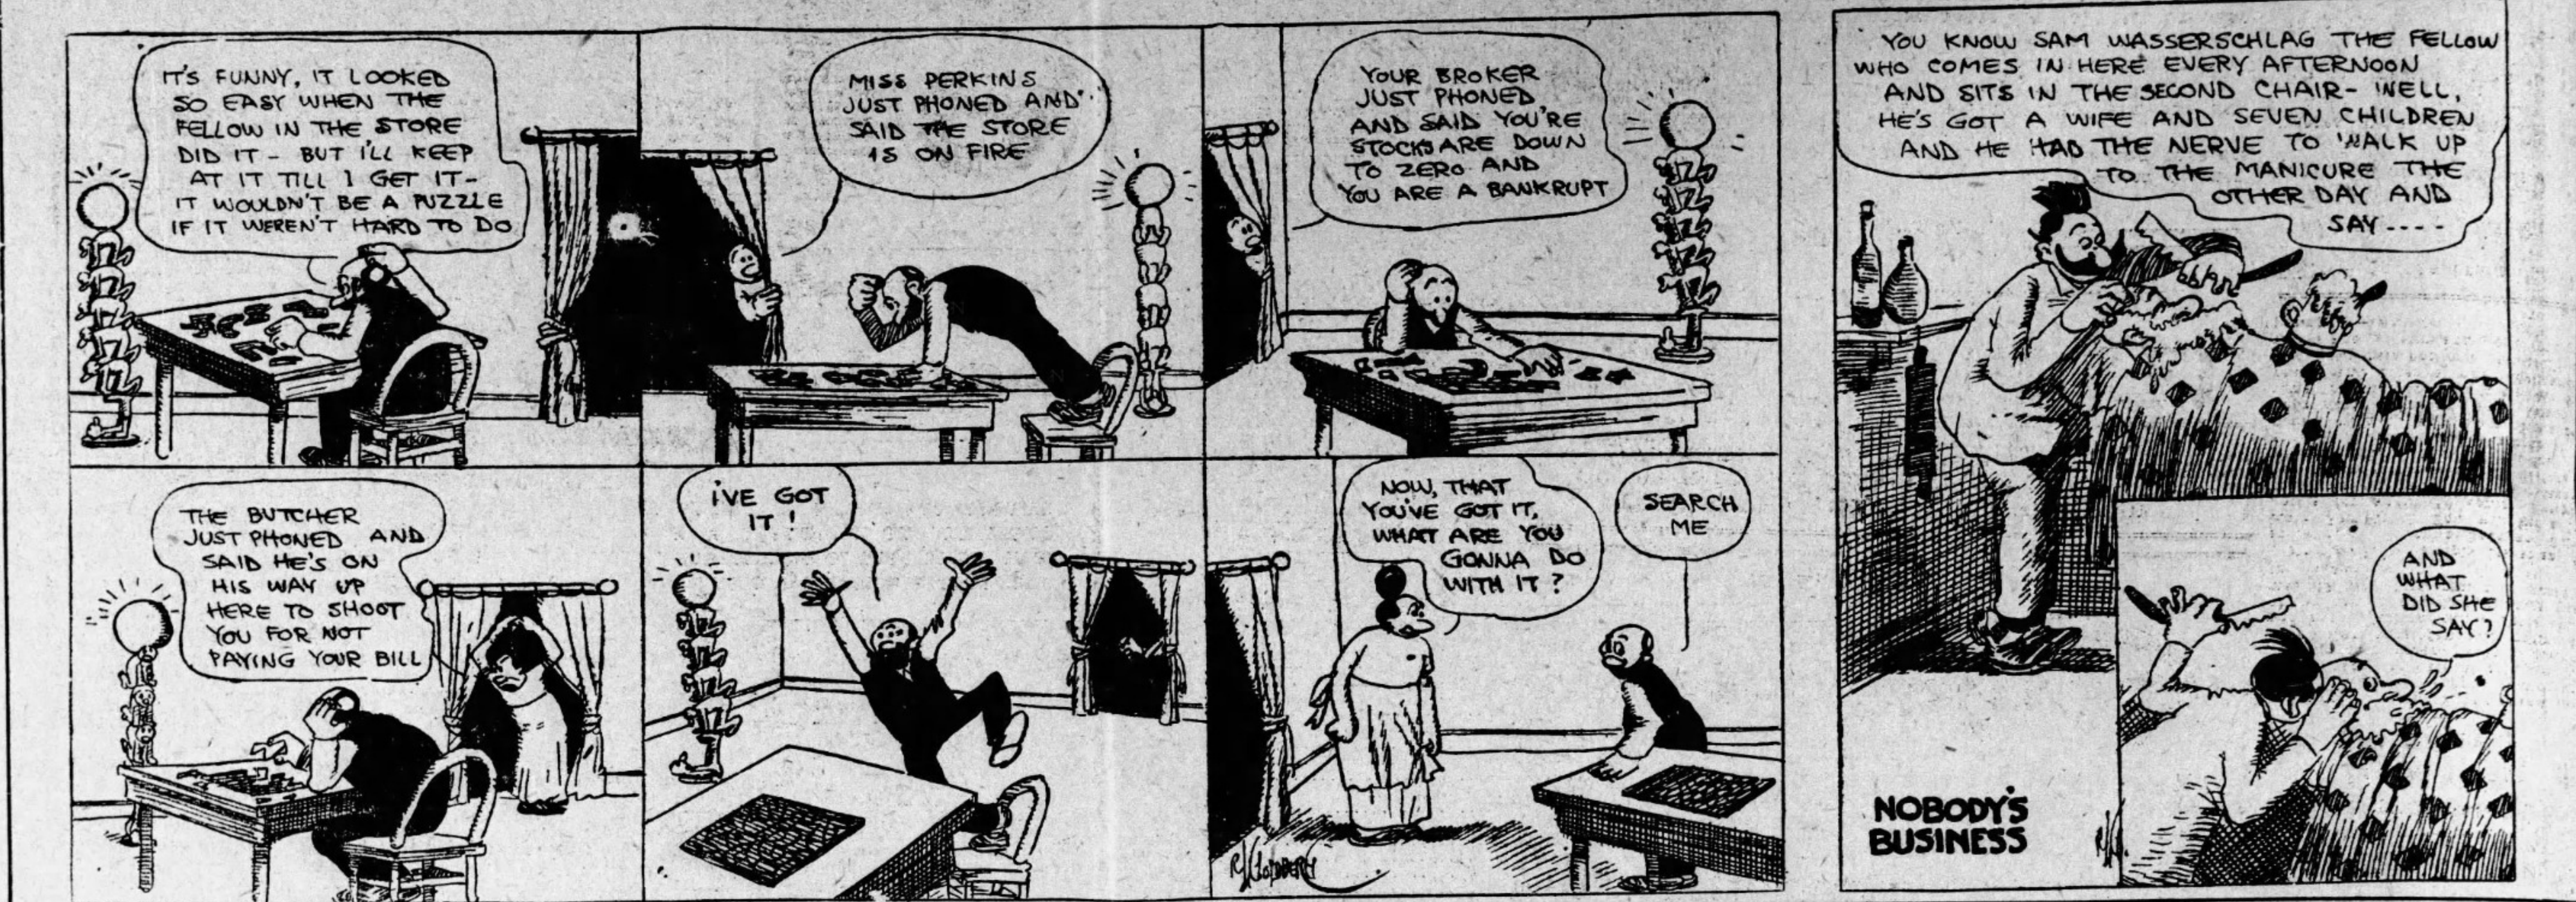

When croup, irritable, feverish or breath is hard, coughs, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomachache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic, remember, a good "fruit laxative" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of

CONVENTION COMMITTEE AFTER BIG GATHERINGS

Effort Being Made to Secure Grand Lodge Sessions for Atlanta

At a special meeting of the executive committee of the Atlanta convention bureau, to be held Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the chamber of commerce rooms in the Empire building, careful consideration will be given to the question of inviting five large gatherings to this city within the near future.

The bureau has its eyes on the grand council of the Knights of Pythias, the grand council of the Royal Arcanum, the convention of the county road commissioners of Georgia, the National Conservation congress and the Textile Exhibitors' association, of Boston, Mass. This latter organization includes also the Southern Textile Exhibitors, the American Cotton Manufacturers' association and the Georgia Cotton Manufacturers' association.

The executive committee will also go into the merits of the conventions of the Air Brake association and Southern Supply and Machinery Dealers' association.

It is probable that an effort will be made to secure every one of these gatherings and at the proper time local representatives will be sent on to press Atlanta's claims.

THREE NEW PLAYGROUNDS PLANNED FOR SAVANNAH

(Special Dispatch to The Journal.) SAVANNAH, Ga., March 11.—Savannah's playground commission, which has for its purpose the putting into active form the resolution of council providing for the creation of public playgrounds in Savannah, held its first meeting yesterday afternoon and got down to work. It was decided to name a committee having in charge the selection of a superintendent of playgrounds for the city. This committee is now at work and will make its selection in a few days. There are to be three public playgrounds in Savannah.

The commission has $2,500 upon which to start the innovation.

Two More Officers of British Army Flying Corps Killed

(By Associated Press.) SALISBURY, England, March 11.—Two more officers of the British army flying corps were killed here today. Captain C. R. W. Allen, of the Welsh regiment, and Lieutenant J. E. G. Burroughs, of the Wiltshire regiment, while flying over the military aerodrome in Salisbury plain were hurled to the ground from a high altitude when their aeroplane collapsed.

The accident was due to the breaking of the rudder bar. The biplane was built by the government and was piloted by Captain Allen. Lieutenant Burroughs was a passenger.

Tragic Sequel to Seely's Congratulations to Court

LONDON, March 11.—In recording the three fatalities to British army aviators within two days, the London newspapers say they make a tragic sequel to the congratulations expressed to the court last week by Colonel Seely, secretary of war, on the fact that no deaths of army aviators had occurred within a year. The secretary attributed this record to the superior safety of British aeroplanes, and declared that flying was now safer than voyages in submarines. The recent flying exploits of Winston Spencer Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, are the subject of much criticism on the ground that a cabinet member has no right to risk his life in what is termed foolhardy exploits.

VACANT HOUSE BURNS IN RESTRICTED DISTRICT

ROME, Ga., March 11.—The vacant house of Lula Baird, in the restricted district here, which was the scene last week of the shooting of Donald Haire, who died from his wounds, burned at 3 o'clock this morning.

The house had been vacant since last Friday. Officers are investigating the source of the fire.

DELTA TAU DELTAS TO DINE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

The Atlanta Alumni chapter of the Delta Tau Delta fraternity will hold its regular monthly dinner at the Ansley hotel Wednesday night at 7:30 o'clock.

After the dinner the regular meeting will be held. Two delegates to the recent convention in Washington will make their reports.

PROFIT SHARING PLAN FOR RICH'S EMPLOYEES

Innovation, Which Becomes Effective Soon, Will Benefit All Employees

A profit-sharing plan which will benefit all the employees in the sales department in the store of M. Rich & Bros. Co. was announced Wednesday morning. It becomes effective shortly and under its provision the employees affected will be able to earn more than their present fixed salaries each week; the amount of extra money or dividends to be determined by the total sales each makes.

The company in an official statement announced that all salaries are to remain the same as before the new order came into play. The profit-sharing is purely an additional compensation which the sales people can earn. The firm has just completed a schedule of plans on which experts have been working for some time.

The experts have figured exactly what it costs the company to sell $100 worth of goods in each department. On this basis it has been determined how much each individual should sell to make them worth the amount of their salary to their employers. They will receive as a dividend each week a percentage of the amount they sell over this required figure.

In no instance, however, will there be any salary reductions. The management of M. Rich & Bros. Co. says:

"We are introducing this co-operative plan because we believe it will stimulate our employees to greater efforts by paying them the hire they are worth and at the same time guaranteeing them a minimum earning capacity. This must result in creating a personal interest on the part of the clerks, so that customers will be assured of the most efficient service."

Profit-sharing is merely taken on as a new phase of business hazard; the theories being that as established firms become more sure of a certain minimum they can afford to increase their risk in striving for the maximum. The employees will continue to draw their salaries each Saturday night, as has been the custom and on Tuesday they will draw their dividends, so that those who can earn a dividend will actually have two pay days.

The system is being introduced by introduced by D. I. Brosseau and staff, business counselors of Chicago. About 300 sales people will be placed in a position to avail themselves of the opportunity to take part in the profit-sharing plan.

SEARCHING FOR BODIES IN ST. LOUIS FIRE RUINS

Ten Bodies Recovered—Coroner's Jury and Committee Making Special Investigation

(By Associated Press.) ST. LOUIS, March 11.—More than 100 men today began digging away the ruins of the Missouri Athletic club building, under which lie the bodies of persons variously estimated from twenty to thirty-five who lost their lives in the fire Sunday night which destroyed the seven-story building. Ten bodies have been found.

At the same time investigations into the probable cause of the fire were opened by a coroner's jury and a joint committee from both branches of the municipal assembly.

Officials of the fire department and the building commissioner declare they want the club management that the building was a fire trap, but that suggested improvements were not made.

MAN WHO INTRODUCED FREE LUNCH IS DEAD

(By Associated Press.) CHICAGO, March 11.—Joseph C. ("Chesterfield") Mackin, considered a powerful factor in Illinois Democratic politics thirty years ago, and who was credited with having introduced the free lunch in saloons, died today at the Chicago state hospital for the insane. After the Cleveland-Blaine campaign in 1884, Mackin served a term in the state penitentiary for election fraud. He had been ill for four months and was adjudged insane last week. He was seventy-three years old.

DIAZ WANTS TO START REVOLT OF HIS OWN

Plans to Restore Peace in Mexico by Routing Huerta, Carranza and Villa

(By Associated Press.) WASHINGTON, March 11.—General Felix Diaz, who helped Huerta overthrow Madero and later fled from Mexico under protection of the United States returned here today with a party of Mexicans and Americans interested in Mexico.

From what was told the senate foreign relations committee last week by Pedro Del Villar, who accompanied Diaz today, the purpose of the Diaz adherents is to restore peace in Mexico by a plan that would recognize neither Huerta or Carranza or Villa. Senators said sanction had been asked for a counter revolutionary movement.

Members of the party today accompanying Diaz denied they wished the help of the United States in an armed revolution. Senator Shively, acting chairman of the foreign relations committee, said today that, while the Mexicans had given the committee some interesting information, no sanction or approval had been given to a revolutionary movement.

SERIOUS CATARRH YIELDS TO HYOMEI

Be wise in time and use Hyomei at the first symptoms of catarrh, such as frequent head colds, constant sniffing, raising of mucus, or droppings in the throat. Do not let the disease become deep-seated and you are in danger of a serious if not fatal ailment.

There is no other treatment for catarrh, head colds, etc., like the Hyomei method, none just as good, so easy and pleasant to use, or that gives such quick, sure, and lasting relief. You breathe it—no stomach dosing.

Try Hyomei at once and see how quickly it clears the head, stops the sniffing, and banishes catarrh. Hyomei helps you to enjoy good health. Drugists sell it. Ask for the complete outfit—$1.00.—(Adv't.)

GRAY HAIR BECOMES DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly composed, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.—(Adv't.)
